converted to bed space and phone moved into booth. Users say "excuse me" before dialing. Seventy-six await hospital beds.

'Gross Neglect' Charged In Hospital Bed Crisis

(See also Page 13)

Greater Victoria councils were charged today with "gross neglect" in permitting the serious overcrowding at city hospitals to continue over the last year.

Victoria-Esquamalt Union Board of Health chairman, G. K. Sammon, a former Esquamalt councillor, said: "We have all been remiss in our duties."

He was referring to a deadlock on proposed intermunicipal financing which was reached in the fall of 1955. Since then no discussions have been held and hospital waiting lists grew until now 76 people are awaiting admission.

He said he will ask the Union Board of Health to "take up the question of hospital bed crisis."

Centennial Grant As Aid?

If the hospital wing is chosen as a Centennial project, the cost will be made less for municipalities by a provincial grant of 60 cents per capita, providing Victoria, Oak Bay, Esquamalt and Saanich put up a similar sum.

Based on 1955 census figures this would mean the province would put up as a Centennial grant $74,719.

Changes in the 1955 census, which have not been considered since the municipal deadlock on cost sharing arose, would greatly reduce Victoria's share of the balance—and add to Saanich's share.

Latest census figures give the Greater Victoria area, which would pay part of the hospital costs, a population of about 124,533. The previous cost-sharing schedule was drawn up on basis of a population of 104,300.

Victoria would be required, if the population basis was still used, to raise 43 per cent of the $325,000 required from this area, instead of 49.3 per cent. Saanich would be asked to contribute over 30 per cent instead of 27.3 per cent based on the old census figures.

Federal, provincial governments and the hospital board would share the bulk of costs of the new hospital wing, about $1,075,000.

Oak Bay and Saanich reeves pledged new co-operation with the city Wednesday in an effort to reach agreement on the cost sharing.

Accident Suit Opens Today In Supreme Court

Unsupervised general damages were asked in Supreme Court here today by Charles Falta and his son Joseph, 2409 Vancouver, involved in an auto accident at the intersection of Menzies and Superior, August 27, 1954.

Defendant was Joseph Venuti, Nanaimo. The Falta charged Venuti failed to stop at the intersection, hit their car, and injuries to the two occupants resulted. Negligence of any kind was denied by the defence.

At the time of the accident, Joseph Falta was aged 19, so action was instituted by his father.

Vancouver Island's output of coal dropped to 197,535 tons in 1956 compared with 209,783 tons in 1955, statistics issued by the B.C. mines department revealed today.

The island's output in December last was also down—to 14,466 compared with 18,120 tons in December 1955. In contrast, total coal production throughout British Columbia showed an increase from 1,370,743 tons in 1955 to 1,448,824 tons in 1956.

INCOMES WILL KEEP RISING

SEIGNIORY CLUB, Que. (CP)—Trade Minister Howe says real incomes in Canada will continue to rise this year, providing steady and increasing demands for consumer goods on Canada's home market. He also said, in an address Wednesday to the Dominion Marine Association here, that Canada's present economic expansion is not a temporary boom which one day may "bust."

CHILLIEST OF THE WINTER

Ice-Cold, Record 15 Forecast for Tonight

Coldest temperature of the winter—15 degrees—was forecast for tonight by weatherman William Mackie.

Lowest temperature to date for this winter was 18 degrees, reached Dec. 6.

Except for the slightly colder temperature, the weather picture will be "not much changed" from that of the last few days, Mr. Mackie said today.

"This cold weather is going to continue for at least another 48 hours," he said.

Minimum temperature here overnight was a mild 19 degrees compared to the seven degrees at Patricia Bay Airport, and the two degrees above zero recorded at Nanaimo.

Conditions on the main roads of the Island continue to improve, with all sections cleared and slippery portions sanded.

Vancouver Island Coach Lines reported all buses on time with the exception of one held up by road construction work on the Malahat.

Society Doctor Must Stand Trial

EASTBOURNE, England (AP)—Society Dr. John Bodkin Adams today was sent to trial at London's Old Bailey on a charge of murdering a wealthy widow.

His huge hands trembling as he gripped the rail of the prisoner's dock, the 58-year-old physician stood up to face the magistrates.

"Do you have anything to say?" asked Chief Magistrate David Honeysett.

"I am not guilty," answered the Irish-born doctor.

"Hear, hear," shouted two grey-haired women in the packed courtroom.

The doctor, blamed with drugging three wealthy patients to death, smiled broadly at these three words of encouragement.

"I reserve my defence," he added, his voice rising to an almost soprano squeak.

zement and violations of the Dangerous Drugs Act.

When the legal arrangements were completed a police constable motioned Adams to leave the courtroom.

GREETINGS WOMEN

The fat doctor, who wore no overcoat to court for the first time today, smiled and picked up his notebook on which he had been doodling triangles within triangles.

With a smile at the many women in the courtroom he left the prisoner's dock.

"Good evening," he said as he clomped down the 13 steps leading to the Eastbourne jail.

DR. JOHN BODKIN ADAMS ... doodles at triangles

SWIFT TRIAL

His lawyers asked the magistrates to send Adams to London's famous criminal court, the Old Bailey, for trial, to save time and expense. Normally, he would have been committed to the nearby city of Lewes, but it was pointed out he might not come to trial there until March.

Defence counsels indicated Adams would go on trial for his life in mid-February.

The crown proposed holding the trial in the Old Bailey.

Adams is charged in connection with the death of Mrs. Edith Morrell, 81.

Crown Prosecutor Melford Stevenson said 16 other charges against Adams will be set aside for the time being. They include accusations of forgery, embezzlement and violations of the Dangerous Drugs Act.

Armored Regiment To Replace Infantry

OTTAWA (CP)—The army is planning to abolish two of its 15 infantry battalions to make way for a new armored regiment, it was learned reliably today.

An infantry battalion comprises some 900 men and an armored regiment about 800 men and 64 tanks.

In either of these cases, one of the units to be abolished likely would be French-speaking. But the apparent plan is to make the new armored regiment—the army's third—a French-speaking unit.

BALANCE OUT

The Regiment of Canadian Guards now has four battalions and the Royal 22nd Regiment three. The army's other four infantry regiments each has two battalions.

The army wants a new armored regiment so that it will have a tank outfit for each of its three infantry brigades in the 1st Canadian Infantry Division.

Disbandment of two infantry battalions is regarded as the preliminary move in a coming big overhaul of army formations to make them more mobile and flexible. Brig. Pat Bogert, commander of the Army Staff College, now is en route to the United Kingdom on a special assignment for Lt. Gen. Howard Graham, chief of the army general staff.

He will study new tactical doctrines in the British Army. He has already done the same thing in the United States.

PERHAPS THE HOGS WOULD KNOW

Now the Question Is: When Is an Honest Liar Honest?

MILWAUKEE (AP)—The world champion liar, crowned less than a month ago by the Burlington Liars Club, reacted in championship style today to a base canard aimed at his qualifications.

Albert Hopkins of Madison, said the Liars' Club of Weyburn, Sask., in a formal statement, "is an honest liar."

Said Hopkins: "That's a lie." The controversy started when master liar Fred Parker of Weyburn said that his club voted unanimously to lodge a strong protest with Burlington over Hopkins' qualifications.

The Canadians, Parker said, were willing to concede that champion Hopkins "is a liar, and a big liar at that." But the title-winning lie, Parker alleged, was a twice-told tale about a pig's posterior.

"It is even, said Parker, 'word for word of an old phonograph record of the song Cross-Eyed Sue.'"

"I never heard of the phonograph record before," Hopkins said Wednesday. He added virtuously that the account was recalled from his boyhood. True, naturally, the champion implied.

The lie itself? Seems there were some hogs who died from lack of sleep after acquiring such an accumulation of North Dakota gumbo clay on their tails that the weight stretched their hide so tight they couldn't close their eyes.

Firm Guarantees Against Aggression Demanded of Egypt

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP)—The Arab-Israeli deadlock remained unbroken in the United Nations today—Israel will not leave the disputed Gaza-Aqaba areas without firm guarantees against Egyptian aggression.

The Jewish state presented Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld with a memorandum reaffirming her intention of holding the Sharm el Sheikh area, key to the Gulf of Aqaba, Israel's southern port, until freedom of navigation is assured.

Simultaneously, at Jerusalem, Israeli Premier David Ben-Gurion asked the United Nations to demilitarize the Sinai desert, scene of Israel's recent victory over Egyptian forces.

In a foreign policy speech to Parliament, the 70-year-old statesman said:

Israel will remain in the Gaza Strip to secure herself against attacks from that area. But she would like to see a suitable relationship set up between the Israeli Gaza administration and the UN.

Israel will keep her forces along the coastal strip of eastern Sinai unless she gets a UN guarantee that Egyptian forces will not use this coastline to bar Israel-bound shipping from the Gulf of Aqaba, cutting her link with the Red Sea.

The Egyptians did that before they were pushed out by the Israeli invasion last November. If Arab nations could not guarantee freedom of shipping in the gulf, UN Emergency Force troops could take over the area and enforce freedom, the premier said.

Parliament endorsed Ben-Gurion's statement by 54 votes to 17.

The opposing votes came from 11 right wing Herut party supporters and six Communists.

Claims 1949 Pact 'Beyond Repair'

In his statement the premier said Israel is willing to sign immediately an agreement of non-aggression and non-belligerency with Egypt. But the 1949 armistice agreement with Egypt was "violated, broken and beyond repair."

Ben-Gurion urged that nothing be left untried to secure real peace in the Middle East "so that the lands of the bible, in co-operation with one another, should again become a source of inspiration and blessing to the world."

There now may be a major debate in the United Nations on UNEF's role.

Delegations of varying shades of opinion have called for its use in Gaza and Sharm el Sheikh, but under different conditions. The last resolution of the assembly merely called on Hammarskjöld to report on the withdrawal by Friday.

Hammarskjöld's Authority Limited

Hammarskjöld, since the resolution was passed last Saturday has been conferring with both Israeli and Egyptian spokesmen.

Hammarskjöld is said to feel that his authority does not at the moment permit any further efforts beyond his new report due on Friday without a new enabling resolution. It is expected that the General Assembly will adjourn Friday after hearing his report and reconvene Monday after the members have had a chance to consider a new resolution.

When this happens, the delegates will have to decide a large number of questions on the role of the force and the Israeli-Egyptian positions before any new resolution will have a chance of getting the required two-thirds majority in the 80-member assembly.

Nasser Warns West Against Interference

HONG KONG (AP)—Egyptian President Nasser has told Chinese correspondents that any attempt by the Western powers to "internationalize" the Gaza area and the Gulf of Aqaba "would lead to new trouble."

The Communist New China News Agency, reporting an interview which Nasser gave Chinese reporters, said the Egyptian leader also declared:

1. He would give his views on the Eisenhower Middle East plan after the United States had given further explanation. He described the plan as vague.

2. Britain had attacked the Yemen because the Arab kingdom joined free Arab countries six months ago.

3. The recent agreement on Jordan between Arab heads of state would help Arab countries "in opposing foreign interference."

4. He plans to visit China this summer.

Canadians to Control UNEF Move in Sinai

ABU SUWEIR, Egypt (CP)—The Canadian contingent with the United Nations police force in Egypt was preparing today to oversee the largest mass movement of UN troops since the force was moved into the troubled area.

The Canadian contingent is to supervise the moving Saturday of 1,000 soldiers from 10 nations over 100-miles of open desert to take over positions from withdrawing Israeli forces in the Sinai Peninsula.

The move will result in a regrouping of the UN forces.

Troops from Colombia, Indonesia and Brazil are to take up positions in the southeastern edge of the Sinai border area, with soldiers from Yugoslavia, India and Scandinavian countries concentrating in the north-eastern district.

Three battalions are preparing to move into the Gaza strip. Plans call for the Canadian force to set up vehicle workshops, organize transportation and communications, build up supplies and ordnance depots. An Indian transport platoon, equipped by the Canadian workshop, is to help.

BODY OF FLIER FOUND STILL STRAPPED IN SEAT

SQUAMISH (CP)—The badly-burned body of one of two airmen missing since the crash of two T-33 jet trainers north of Squamish Jan. 13 was located by an RCAF ground party Wednesday night.

The body was found still strapped in its seat east of the Cheakamus River where wreckage of the plane was found earlier.

Identity had not been established.

Two other fliers bailed out at the time of the crash and were rescued.

Commonwealth Policy Sparks Lively Clash

(From Times News Services)

Hon. Earl Rowe and Health Minister Martin clashed Wednesday over the government's attitude toward the Commonwealth as the throne speech debate ended with two votes carried by the Liberal majority.

"Never have I been more ashamed of Canada's position within the British Commonwealth than I have been during the last six months," said Mr. Rowe, deputy leader of the Progressive Conservatives and member for Dufferin-Simcoe, Ont.

Speaking immediately after Mr. Rowe, Mr. Martin, acting as external affairs minister in Mr. Pearson's absence at the UN General Assembly, said: "One would have thought that we had long passed the day when it would be possible to seek to divide public opinion in this country on the question of allegiance to the Commonwealth."

Mr. Rowe, in an apparent reference to government criticism of the British-French invasion of Egypt last October, said government leaders in the past have said "there is nothing left of our bond with the motherland except a fine silken thread which you could hardly see trembling across the ocean."

He added: "Even that gossamer tie has been weakened since that time."

Must Not Provoke United States

The government's attitude seemed to be that Canada must not provoke the United States.

"Instead of looking to Washington we should be giving study to our part in the British Commonwealth of nations and how we can unite with Western Europe."

Mr. Martin said surely Mr. Rowe did not seriously believe that any political group in the Commons "does not wholly subscribe to the view that the Commonwealth is an instrument for good in this world and that it must be preserved."

Mr. Rowe said External Affairs Minister Pearson "opposed Britain for going into the Suez and he supports the United States of America when the government of that country asks Congress: now that we have got Britain kicked out, can we go in?"

Mr. Martin said Mr. Rowe "suggested by implication" that not only is the government "seeking to bring about a disunity of the Commonwealth but we were also seeking to add to this disruptive force further and further alliance to the United States."

"The right of each member to determine for itself its attitude towards important international issue is basic to our concept of the Commonwealth," Mr. Martin said.

Non-Confidence Motion Defeated

As the sitting, last of 10 allocated to the Throne Speech debate, neared its end, G. H. Castleden (CCF-Yorkton) introduced a motion of non-confidence in the government criticizing it for not proposing legislation in the Throne Speech to give farmers a parity price system.

The motion was defeated 173 to 31. The Social Credit group supported the CCF Conservatives and three Quebec independents voted with the Liberals against it.

Earlier non-confidence motions by the CCF, Conservatives and Social Credit were defeated.

Social Credit member C. E. Johnston said it would be "despicable" for the government to increase old age pensions and family allowances in an election year when the payments could have been raised one or two years ago.

"Surely there are more honorable ways the government could use to get votes than this underhanded method," the member for Bow River said.

Mr. Johnston said a number of Liberal members have spoken urging higher payments. If the government decided to increase them now, the same action could have been taken long ago. That would mean the government had been holding back aid for needy persons in order to gain an election advantage.

The Opposition continued to press the government for an announcement on when the Canadian Wheat Board will make an interim payment on wheat from the 1955-56 crop year.

But Trade Minister Howe, replying to Opposition Leader Diefenbaker, said he is unable to say. He had brought the matter to the board's attention

Five Quebec Children Die In House Fire

JOLLIETTE, Que. (CP) — Five children were burned to death today when fire, believed to have started from a overheated stove, razed their clap-board cottage home on the outskirts of this town 50 miles north of Montreal.

A sixth child suffered severe burns and the mother of three of the dead children was taken to hospital suffering from severe shock.

Deputy Fire Chief Rivest said he believes the kitchen stove became overheated after the man of the house had left for work about 6:45 a.m.

WORTH $27 MILLION

Canada Offers Naval Vessels To NATO Allies

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada has offered NATO $27,250,000 worth of naval ships, mainly minesweepers, defence officials said Wednesday.

The ships will comprise more than one-quarter of this country's $100,000,000 mutual aid program in the fiscal year beginning April 1, 1957.

Under this program, Canada ships military equipment to its European allies in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. Since formation of the alliance more than six years ago, Canada has given away more than $1,100,000,000 worth of arms under this arrangement.

NATO has not yet indicated how many Canadian warships it wants but on the basis that a minesweeper costs about $4,000,000, some seven ships may be involved in the deal.

Mutual aid works this way: Gilbert Campbell asked him to present a probate court that he was present when witnesses signed a forged $1,000,000 will.

William Grieve, a member of the Burnaby School Board for 14 years, said Campbell offered to "wipe out" a $5,000 debt which Grieve owed to the estate of James Thomson, a wealthy hotel owner who died here in 1949.

In return, Grieve said, Campbell asked him to say he saw witnesses sign Thomson's will. Grieve's testimony came during

Ration-Free Gas Supplied for Race

LONDON (AP) — The British government agreed Wednesday to supply 8,000 gallons of ration-free gasoline for the Isle of Man Tourist Trophy motorcycle races next June.

The allowance followed a warning from the Isle of Man that the island's economy would suffer if the races had to be cancelled.

Bribe Offer Claimed At Will Forgery Trial

VANCOUVER (CP) — A former Campbell's preliminary hearing, Campbell, a lieutenant with the Vancouver Fire Department, is charged with fraud and forgery.

The will was declared a forgery in supreme court.

Earlier in the hearing, T. R. Duckworth, a handwriting expert, said forged signatures appearing on the will had been written by Campbell.

Duckworth, a former inspector with the Saskatchewan Provincial Police, said he based his findings on comparisons between the signatures made on the will and entries made by Campbell in a fire department log book.

In return, Grieve said, Campbell asked him to say he saw witnesses sign Thomson's will. Grieve's testimony came during

Princess, Baby Fine; Monacans Whoop It Up

By PIERRE LEGROS

MONTE CARLO (AP) — Princess Grace's doctors said she could get out of bed for an hour this afternoon, less than 30 hours after the birth of her first child.

The palace physicians announced the Hollywood film star will be allowed up at increasingly frequent intervals after her first time on her feet. The doctors had said earlier the princess would be up and about in two or three days.

Princess Grace and her baby, Princess Caroline, were reported in excellent condition. The 26-year-old mother spent a quiet night. The blue-eyed, dark-haired baby slept in the royal crib at her bedside from midnight until 6 a.m. without waking.

The happy and weary father, Prince Rainier, went to bed early Wednesday night, but the rest of Monaco spent the night celebrating the arrival of the royal baby. The celebration continued today.

The rejoicing residents and visitors in this 367-acre principality on the Riviera gathered in a singing and dancing throng before the palace Wednesday night. They lit a bonfire and shouted "Long live the prince—long live the princess!"

TURNS IN EARLY

The people shouted repeatedly for Rainier, but he did not appear on the palace balcony. He had kept a vigil with his mother-in-law, Mrs. John B. Kelly of Philadelphia, outside the palace delivery room from 3 a.m. until the baby arrived at 9:27 a.m. He was in a swirl of royal activity for the rest of the day and decided to turn in early.

CASINO PACKED

After yelling themselves hoarse, the Monacans scattered into cafes and other night spots around the principality. They danced rock 'n' roll, mambo, and almost every other kind of dance. The dawn advanced and so did the celebrating. The swank night club in the famous gambling casino was packed.

All the public knows about Princess Caroline's looks is what the doctors announced. She is a healthy, pink-skinned infant with blue eyes, dark hair, a freckle on her nose. She weighs eight pounds three ounces.

Russian Planes Probing Arctic?

Vapor Trails Sighted Over Canada's North Can't Be Confirmed Until DEW Line Operates

OTTAWA (CP) — Competent authorities here say they believe Russian planes occasionally make reconnaissance flights over northern Canada and Alaska.

They say that as far as they know no Canadian or American plane has ever been able to intercept such a flight. The United States has jet fighters stationed in Alaska but Canada has no interceptors based that far north.

Thus there has not been positive identification of a Soviet plane flying over northern Canada. As a rule, all that has been seen have been vapor trails of aircraft so high that the planes themselves could not be seen.

These vapor trails have been noticed over the Queen Elizabeth Islands—Canada's northern archipelago—at a time when it was known that no Canadian or American planes were in the area.

Authorities say they believe the only purpose of such reconnaissance flights, if that is what they are, is to obtain information from the DEW (Distant Early Warning) radar line is being built along the 70th parallel. There is an airfield at each major DEW line station.

Positive identification of any Russian flights over the Arctic may be obtained when the DEW line goes into operation. It is scheduled for completion July 1.

No particular alarm is expressed here about the Russian reconnaissance flights, if that is what they are. It is believed that the Russians would gain little or no valuable information from them.

It is also said here that the Soviet flights have been made periodically during the last three years at least.

RCAF Air-Cadet Instructor Dies When Plane Crashes on Take-Off

POWELL RIVER (CP)—A twin-engine RCAF Expediter crashed and burned on takeoff from the Westview airport at 8.05 a.m. today. The pilot was killed.

SHIRTS LAUNDRY IN 3 HRS. 24c

He was identified as Stanley Cratchley, 22, fighter pilot and air cadet training liaison officer, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Cratchley of Powell River.

A witness said the plane fell to the ground in cleared land just west of the runway.

It exploded and burst into flames. Firemen extinguished the blaze in less than half an hour and recovered the body.

Authorities said the plane was based at Comox and was taking off for the return trip when the crash occurred.

Robert Crompton, truck driver, was less than half a block from the cleared land west of the airport runway when he saw the Expediter crash.

He said the plane was airborne and the pilot had raised his wheels when the aircraft fell to the ground and exploded in flames.

Air force officials said they had not determined the cause of the crash. An investigation will be held.

NEW YORK (AP)—Russia would like to have a U.S. track team compete in the "friendly sports games for youth" at Moscow next summer, but indications today were that an invitation would be turned down. "We have refused invitations to that meet before," said AAU secretary-treasurer Dan Ferris. "In view of the current political climate following the Hungarian revolt, I strongly doubt that we'll change our attitude."

Germans Say Speidel Given Top NATO Post

BONN (AP)—The West German defence ministry announced today that Lt.-Gen. Hans Speidel soon will take over command of NATO's central European land forces. He will be the first German officer to be given a top command in the Atlantic alliance.

Speidel, 59, served as Field Marshal Erwin Rommel's chief of staff on the western front during the allied invasion in 1944. He was arrested by the Gestapo after the July 20, 1944, bomb plot on Hitler's life and held in prison until freed by French troops in April, 1945.

A spokesman at NATO's military headquarters near Paris said Speidel's appointment still is "under consideration."

His selection by NATO, however, was considered a certainty. The NATO council already has approved the appointment of a German to the post and the West German government was asked to nominate

Mr. St. Laurent Stands Firm

MR. ST. LAURENT SAYS THAT the shortage of money and materials will get worse this year but may be relieved in six months or so.

How Mr. St. Laurent knows that the shortage may be relieved in the visible future is not clear. No Canadian economist, so far as we are aware, has ventured any such prediction. For the state of supply, both in materials and money, will depend on many foreign factors quite outside Canada's control and chiefly on the importation of American capital.

However, Mr. St. Laurent's statement in Toronto is of the highest significance, is far more important than anything he has said lately in Parliament.

When he says that the shortage of money will continue at least for six months he can only mean that his Government has firmly decided not to increase the supply of money.

Until now the Government and its Bank of Canada have done nothing of real importance to halt inflation except to hold the total supply of money (or credit) at its existing level. They have not directly raised interest rates. The recent rise in interest rates is due solely to the operations of the money market—a demand exceeding the supply and thus inevitably pushing the price of borrowed money upwards. But to limit the supply of money, to issue no more money when the supply already exceeds the available materials and manpower, required a high degree of courage. The purpose of this policy will also require a high degree of public intelligence, much more intelligence than some members of Parliament have been showing.

It is by no means certain yet, however, that the limitation of the money supply of itself will be sufficient to halt inflation. Under the best of conditions prices are bound to rise in the next six months because increased costs of production (mainly wages) already are imbedded in the economy and must soon emerge at the retail level.

It is certain that if the Government were to retreat from its present policy, take the easy and perhaps popular course, and increase the supply of money under present conditions then a creeping inflation would immediately become an avalanche.

Evidently Mr. St. Laurent has no such intention. All Canadians who are interested in the value of the dollar will hope that the Prime Minister stands by his policy when it is increasingly attacked in Parliament. In this issue his greatest test as a statesman is now beginning.

Bad Driving and Penalties

THE RCMP INTENDS TO crack down more severely on dangerous drivers this year.

That is the meaning of this week's statement by Assistant-Commissioner C. W. Harvison, chief of the force in B.C. To that end the RCMP will use more men on traffic, put more ghost cars on the highway and add mechanical equipment to extend its radar zones.

Ghost cars and radar zones are believed to have a psychological effect on drivers. Unsure of the absence of police from the highways or of the length of a radar test stretch, they are expected to drive more cautiously.

No one likes speed traps or covert ways of catching speeders and other careless car operators. The fact remains, however, that 312 people were killed by automobiles in British Columbia last year—a score of them in the Greater Victoria region—mainly because too many people drove too fast. That calls for drastic action.

If people cannot be persuaded to drive prudently because that is the sensible way to drive, then perhaps they must be made to exercise caution for fear of being caught and punished. Such, apparently, is the thinking of the RCMP.

But it is one thing to catch a driver breaking the law and another thing to impose upon him a penalty sufficient to discourage him from repeating his offense. Moreover, if punishment is to be a deterrent not only to the person who is caught, but to others who may be inclined to break the same laws, it must be adequate.

The question of adequacy is left to the magistrates. They are the people responsible for the proper trial of accused persons and for passing sentence on those found guilty.

No one may interfere improperly with the magistrate's jurisdiction on those points. But the situation in British Columbia in respect to court action on driving offenses is anything but consistent.

In Victoria, for instance, the individual convicted for "impaired driving" usually faces a fine of $250 with possible license suspension for one year. Elsewhere in this province, conventional penalties run as low as a $75 fine and no suspension.

Careless driving may cost a guilty person $35 in Victoria—as little as $10 in another locality.

No uniformity at all seems to prevail on speeding charges. Penalties for such cases run from $15 to $50 with or without suspension of driving privileges.

Obviously no hard and fast rule can be made to cover all driving offenses. Circumstances alter cases. In some instances the breach of the law is more flagrant than in others.

At the same time it is quite apparent that no adequate sanctions can be applied uniformly in British Columbia if a particular offense draws a stiff penalty in one district and is dismissed with little more than a slap on the wrist in others.

Fines, of course, are a highly relative form of punishment at best. What may be a large sum for one person to pay may be chicken feed to another. But the suspension of license, or a jail term, does strike a degree of uniformity no matter what the financial circumstances of the individual may be.

Perhaps Attorney-General Bonner, whose RCMP enforcement officers plan to intensify their campaign against death on the highway, might draw the question of penalties to the attention of his magistrates.

He will not, of course, seek to impose any improper pressure on them. On the other hand, he is certainly entitled to point out the unequal deterrent influence exercised by punishment when it varies so widely from one locality to another in this province.

'Nobody Here But Us Camels'

'Not for Us, All Alone'

Remarks by Defence Minister C. D. Howe at the commissioning of HMCS Bonaventure, a Belfast last week.

WITH the acquisition of this splendid ship... aviation in the Royal Canadian Navy will, so to speak, come of age and be flying from its own deck.

In the production of this ship, much credit must go to the British Admiralty. The three most important advances incorporated—the angled flight deck, the steam-catapult and the mirror landing aid—are all British developments, and they constitute continuing evidence that the progressive spirit of the United Kingdom remains—ingeniously active and intelligently determined as ever.

For various reasons, including nearness to the source of supply and common manufacturing practices, the aircraft which fly from this vessel will be of United States design, many of them of Canadian manufacture.

This fact once again draws attention to the co-operative measures in defence that exist between nations of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. The happy combination of the products and skills of three countries in this ship and its equipment may be regarded as symbolic of the enduring friendship that Canada enjoys with NATO's two greatest members.

I would like to say something about the ship's name. Off the Gaspe Peninsula, on the east Canadian coast, there lies a small island known as Bonaventure Island. It is rich in history and legend, and many believe that it was named by the French explorer, Jacques Cartier, who first sighted it on the 14th of July in 1534—the day of the Feast of St. Bonaventure. It was known then, and perhaps before, to fishermen from Brittany and Portugal, who always had good luck there and called it "Ile de Bonne Adventure."

Bonaventure is also an honored name of Her Majesty's Ships, going back to the time of the first Queen Elizabeth, and before.

It remains for me now to express but one more thought. I can introduce it best by quoting the translation of the old French motto which has been chosen for this ship. Its meaning in English is: "Not for us, all alone."

None of Canada's many defence measures, of which the acquisition of this important ship is one, is taken "for us, all alone." No defence measure has full moral justification today unless it is designed to defend the cause of freedom of all men.

Tax Deductible

Mr. Harold Winch in the press this week was quoted as stating in the House of Commons that donations to voluntary organizations attempting to build low-rent housing for the aged were not exempt from income tax.

I would like to point out that in respect to Kiwanis Village this is not correct. Donations to Kiwanis Village Society are a deductible item for income tax purposes. We hold a letter dated October 28, 1952 signed by the then Minister of National Revenue, Dr. J. J. McCann, confirming this. I have no knowledge of the regulations as they may affect other similar organizations. I trust you will publish this letter in order to correct any misapprehension which may have been created.

Subdivision and Taxes

Reeve Ash of Saanich seems to have the impression that people who subdivide their property do not pay enough towards local improvements, and should put in sewers, sidewalks, etc.

The owners pay the cost of building roads and ditches on their property at no cost to Saanich except inspection. If sewers and sidewalks were put in the cost would be added to the price of the lots, making the price too high for the lots to sell, and the sewers would run to the main road. If the adjoining property was not subdivided, the sidewalks, sewers and ditches would end there as the municipality does not build roads, or dig ditches. Everything is done under local improvement, with the property owners paying the cost in extra taxes.

Who benefits by the subdivisions?

In 1954 a piece of land was divided into nine lots. The assessed value of the land at that time was $500. After subdividing, each of the nine lots was assessed at $410 to $450. In 1956 the owner of one new house painted the fence, planted a lawn and a few flowers increasing the assessment by $65 to $515. More for one lot than the original piece of land (nine lots).

In 1945 Saanich collected less than $25 taxes for the above mentioned property with a small house and other improvements, later a new house was built and the taxes increased to $130. After subdividing, five more houses were built, and when they are finished the taxes this year will be $800 to $1,000 per year and going up.

The owner made a profit of 25% to 30% over a 12-year period on the investment and work, while Saanich at no expense got an increase in taxes from $25 to $800 or $1,000 on the same piece of property or 3,000% to 4,000% in perpetuity.

Fervent Hope

The recent statement by Mr. Pearson in the House of Commons, concerning Canadian-American relations, is very illuminating, but at the same time very disturbing; and not at all in keeping with Canada's sovereignty, and membership in the British Commonwealth.

As a result of the St. Laurent-Pearson policy, Canada is now in the humiliating position of having her economic and foreign policy dictated by the United States. In fact Mr. Pearson emphasized that in a really critical situation, involving war or peace, it would be very difficult for Canada to adopt a policy differing from that of Uncle Sam.

This makes it abundantly clear that if the Eisenhower-Dulles combination should engage in war over Arabian oil, or some other issue, Canada would almost certainly be involved. This also explains the stand taken by the Canadian government over the Suez intervention—Mr. St. Laurent, Lester Pearson, and others, were afraid of offending the United States.

We might well ask, "where is our boasted sovereignty?" The sovereignty granted to Canada by Britain. Surely our sovereignty was not given to us to barter away for the sake of American dollars. It is evident that Canada has indeed become the "chore boy" of the United States.

It is my fervent hope that in the near future, a new government will be in power at Ottawa, one dedicated to the sacred cause of preserving our freedom, and one of the brightest jewels in the British Commonwealth.

More Investigation

After reading the report on the business tax issue submitted by Alderman Austin Curtis and also the previous report on the same issue by Alderman D. Smith, it looks as though the City Council should have had an investigation made and reported on before the recent civic election so that the taxpayers would have had more information on the subject before casting their votes.

Alderman Smith as a candidate in the election campaign made the business tax his strong point and made it appear as though some action would be taken in the matter by council this year if he were elected. Consequently he got a majority vote. Then followed the appointment of a two-man special committee to enquire into the revision of trades licence and proposed business tax. Even on that the two aldermen could not agree and so each sent his own report into council and the report presented by Alderman Smith was voted out.

The writer is aware that there are many angles to a business tax to be considered, nevertheless the intelligence of the home-owner taxpayer has been given little respect regarding the issue.

Labor and Automation

Anent the struggle of labor versus automation, an examination of the subject may lead to some thinking when inordinate demands for ever higher wages and other costly benefits are put forth.

All automatic, labor-replacing equipment calls for an extremely high capital outlay.

This investment is subject to certain annual charges, interest on the money invested, depreciation, amortization etc.

Now, if at the end of the year employers find that the sum total of these fixed charges is greater than the cost of the labor that the automation would replace, then, naturally, any sane business man would refrain from installing the labor-saving equipment.

However, once the annual cost of labor exceeds the fixed charges on automatic labor-replacing equipment then, in order to survive, business must replace labor with automation.

The lesson is that once wages, fringe benefits etc. exceed in cost the annual cost of automatic equipment then labor is thrown onto the scrap heap.

We are presently going through the second industrial revolution similar to the first one in which machinery commenced to displace hand labor and the efforts of unions and other labor organizations to halt this trend are just as futile as were the efforts of the Luddites in the early part of the last century. Progress will not be halted.

Soap in His Eye

May we appeal to all those responsible for the care of children to use extreme care to keep soap out of their eyes during daily ablutions.

Their antipathy is traditional. It isn't tantrums or temper. Having been hurt before it is a typical human reaction to try to avoid the cause of pain. This repetitious practice, though necessary, has an important bearing on the widespread use of spectacles in this age, especially among young people. Aborigines seldom wear glasses, most have excellent vision.

The extreme sensitivity of the membrane, nerves and muscles around the eye is shown by the fact that even the mildest soap affects them, though the outer surface of the body may register no discomfort whatever.

The instantaneous reflex of the injured member or tissue is to withdraw itself from contact with a harmful element. This reflex is ineffectual in this case as the painful element is trapped inside the eyelids. Any retraction allows it to penetrate farther.

Science has proved that one tear can destroy many germs. No wonder when the fluid contains a high proportion of lye. We don't like to see children hurt or crying but occasionally the flowing tears wash out the tear ducts. Most adults are seldom moved deeply enough to shed tears so it is possible that over a period of time the proportion of lye in the tear ducts increases.

Eisenhower — A Second Term, a Wiser Man, a Great World Challenge To Be Met

By STEWART ALSOP

FOUR years ago, when a solemn, inexperienced and rather nervous Dwight Eisenhower had just taken the oath of office for the first time, this reporter and his partner pointed to three "tremendous challenges" which confronted the new President. In the light of his second inauguration, it may be worth recalling those challenges, and trying to assess how the President has met them. Here were the three great problems facing the President, as they looked four years ago:

Alsop

"The first thing the new President must do is to establish his political leadership of the Republican party."

"The second thing the new President must do is to establish his ideological leadership of the Republican party."

"Finally, the most important thing the new President must do is not merely to carry on where Truman left off, but to find bold, positive solutions for the problems that plague us," throughout the world.

It took him a long time to do it, but surely, by any reasonable standard, the President has triumphantly met the first two challenges. To see just how triumphantly the challenges have been met, it is necessary to recall the political atmosphere which prevailed for more than two years after that first Eisenhower inauguration.

The President was hardly installed in the White House before he was engaged in a series of bitter rows with the conservative wing of his own party. There was, for example, the row with the right wingers in the Senate, led by Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy, over the confirmation of Charles E. Bohlen as Ambassador to the Soviet Union. And there was the concurrent row with the House conservatives, led by Rep. Daniel Reed, over the President's budget tax program.

The President had his way in both cases, in the end, but only with the help of the Democrats, and these conflicts were only the first of a seemingly endless series. In those days, moreover, the President very often seemed uncertain of his power, and unwilling to use it. "I speak my piece," he used to say to friends, "and then it's up to them."

Frustrating Days

Those were the days when the President was so often frustrated by his own party that he talked seriously of forming a third party. After twenty years in the wilderness, many Republicans had formed the habit of looking on the occupant of the White House as their natural enemy, and the thought of accepting the President's political or ideological leadership hardly occurred to them.

Consider the difference now, Sen.

McCarthy is sunk without trace, and there is no one else in the Republican party who would think for a minute of seriously challenging President Eisenhower's leadership. The response to his budget, the highest in peacetime history, and higher by many billions in the non-defence field than any budget ever proposed by Harry S. Truman, tells the story.

If the President had submitted such a budget in the first part of his first term, the Republican Congressional leaders would have exploded like so many rockets. Now the President's authority in his party is such that the resistance of the Republicans on Capitol Hill is confined to private mutterings—the only open opposition has come from the President's own Secretary of the Treasury, George M. Humphrey.

As for the President's willingness to use his authority, it is only necessary to consider the "Eisenhower Doctrine." The President has started his second term by demanding of the Congress a blanket grant of authority such as Franklin Roosevelt, at the height of his power, would never have dared ask.

This new willingness to use his power to the full may be a good augury as regards the third of the three challenges listed four years ago—the need to "find bold, positive solutions for the problems that plague us." This is the challenge which President Eisenhower in his first administration has not really met. Instead of finding "bold, positive solutions," a policy of accepting the status quo, of making do with things as they are, has been adopted again and again, all over the world.

It is now clear, that things will not remain as they are for very much longer. As the President remarked in his second inaugural address, no nation can now escape the "tempest of change and turmoil." The whole tone of that address suggests that the President is determined to meet the third, and unmet, challenge. It is infinitely difficult to meet. But given the enormous authority which the President now exercises, and the whole power of the United States, it should not be impossible to meet.

Lipmann

By WALTER LIPMANN

There are, as there were bound to be, big differences between the Eisenhower of today and the Eisenhower of the first inaugural. The facts of life are stronger than man's preconceptions. He began, for example, with a theory which was presumably acquired in the classroom at West Point. The theory was that Congress determines policy and makes the laws, while the president, deferring to Congress, executes the policy and enforces the laws. The practice of this theory very nearly brought him to a disaster in his first two years of office. His administration was wracked owing to his passivity in the face of the usurpation of power by Congressional committees. Now, within the bounds of his own temperament and of his own energies, Eisenhower has become, as have all successful presidents before him, a proponent of the idea that the presidential office is the central and the originating branch of the government.

It seems safe to predict that for his second term what happens in foreign affairs will be decisive. The basic problems of the budget are on the one hand inflation and on the other how to finance the welfare measures of what used to be the New Deal and what is now called the New Republicanism. These problems stem directly from the costs of the military establishment, from the overriding fact that we are involved in a gigantic race of armaments and that the cold war has been resumed on a wider scale and with renewed intensity.

This is not what President Eisenhower hoped for when he was inaugurated four years ago. It is fair to say, I think, that his original hope was that, starting with a move to end the Korean War, he could arrive at some global truce with the Soviet Union. Such a truce would have enabled him to disengage many of the United States armed forces from their far-flung and perilous commitments all over the globe. Only on this assumption could he have believed, as he did during the 1952 campaign and as he set it forth in his famous compact with Senator Taft, that he could reduce drastically the federal expenditure, that he could reduce taxes, and that he could reduce the size of the federal government. His hope then was that he could disengage, retrench, and reduce. This hope was based on the deeper hope that the cold war could be, if not ended, at least moderated.

As he enters his second term, he finds himself extending rather than reducing our commitments abroad. On the three great fronts of the cold war, in the Far East, the Middle East, and in Central Europe, there is no present prospect of negotiation which might open the way to some kind of truce. There is an atmosphere of irreconcilability here and in the world about us which hangs heavily upon the future as the new term begins.

Nightmare Stuff

LAST night I dreamed I had a semi-transparent baby with a very tiny brain. Goodness knows what the Freudians would make of that. Something horrible, I don't doubt. But I know what I make of it. I put it down to reading the wrong kind of articles, especially one about the famous French biologist, Jean Rostand.

Jean Rostand, says the article, claims that probably before the end of the century childbirth as we know it will be but a memory of a rather savage and unscientific past.

According to his theory, in her third month of pregnancy, a mother would enter a clinic for a painless operation that would last for only a few minutes. The operation would remove the embryo, which would be placed in an artificial womb and fed under scientifically ideal conditions. At the end of six months, the baby—boy or girl as the parents decided—would be delivered from its artificial womb.

Well, I'm too old for this to bother me, but I'd just like to say that I'm glad I produced my babies in a normal way.

I'm glad that I know what it was like to feel the first leap of life, and to know the wonderful things that were happening in my body. It's an experience that I wouldn't have missed for worlds. I wouldn't have missed nursing my babies, either.

Thank Heavens that in those days we still believed in Do-It-Yourself.

The article then goes on to speak of parthenogenesis. (Reproduction without union of sexual elements, in case your dictionary is not handy.)

Jean Rostand, whose experiments of parthenogenesis on frogs are known throughout the world, is convinced that it is also possible with human beings.

Artificial parthenogenesis is not yet fool-proof, says the article, and, in his experiments with frogs, Rostand still gets a high percentage of unexpected results. He got albino frogs, for instance. Almost white and semi-transparent they were!

I don't like the sound of this at all. Once you start this sort of thing with frogs, the next step is to try it on human beings.

And I can't think that even the mothers of the future will be content if the scientists make a slip somewhere and produce the odd semi-transparent baby. They might accept a pure act of God, but not a slip on the part of scientists. (Think of the lawsuits and the suing for damages!)

Man, says this article, cannot wait for natural evolution to catch up with science, and, already, men are thinking of speeding up evolution.

Some of the experiments on frogs, I understand, have produced frogs with larger brains than frogs ever had before.

Even my limited brain can see the follow-up to this one. Frogs with bigger brains? Okay, let's make frogs with smaller brains. It worked? Good, now let's have some fun and try the same experiment with humans.

As if there weren't enough subhuman types shambling round already!

No, if this is the shape of things to come, I don't like it. Nightmare stuff it seems to me.

(The article, written in popular style, is in the January 5 issue of Everybody's. A more erudite discussion of the same experiments appears in the introduction to Charles Morgan's "Liberties of the Mind.")

YOUR HEALTH

By DR. WALTER C. ALVAREZ

A Bunch of Nerves

Dr. Walter C. Alvarez is Emeritus Consultant in Medicine, Mayo Clinic and Emeritus Professor of Medicine, Mayo Foundation.

A young man writes that he has been utterly miserable, and much worried about his health. He has been going from one clinic to another getting examined from head to foot at great cost to his family, but nothing has ever been found, and he is getting desperate. As he says, he gets a sort of dizziness at times, with a feeling of a lump in his throat that won't go up or down. He has feelings of great air hunger, as if he could not get enough air down deep into his lungs. He runs to a window, hoping that there he will find more air.

His doctors have told him there is not a single sign of heart disease, but he is still worried because his heart sometimes races or skips a beat and then thumps in his neck. When he is frightened, he sometimes belches for half an hour, or he gets diarrhea. Often he gets "butterflies" in his abdomen and a burning over his stomach. If he goes out with his girl, he is likely to become nervous and so nauseated that he cannot eat anything. His bowel may then fill with gas and give him much distress. He may bloat like a "poisoned pup."

At times he feels a pressure in his brain and he has pains that move around in his chest. His hands are usually so cold and wet he is ashamed to shake hands with anyone. Sometimes he gets jittery spells when he feels chilly. Sometimes he vomits his breakfast. At times he feels too short of breath to walk fast, and at other times he can play baseball comfortably. He wants to know what is wrong and what he can do to get well. He strongly suspects his bad nerves have come from his mother who for years, was in a state hospital.

Actually, all his symptoms are typical of a person who was born with a poor set of nerves. Not a single symptom suggests disease in his chest or abdomen. I can see no sense in examining this poor fellow any further—that can only waste his money. He will probably always have to put up with some nervousness, and so he might as well start learning to live with his nerves. The big thing is not to get frightened when they start playing tricks with his heart or his stomach or the blood vessels and sweat glands and muscles in his skin.

Hundreds of persons still keep asking me what to do for a functional type of hypoglycemia (low blood sugar) that has not responded to treatment. My answer usually is "Forget it; the diagnosis was probably wrong. Go to a good clinical laboratory and get your blood sugar measured. If it is normal, as it probably will be, quit worrying. You just happened to see a physician whose hobby is low blood sugar."

I am happy to say that the fad of diagnosing this (usually) supposed disease seems to be going the way of all fads. Of late I have not seen so many persons worrying about it; nowhere near so many as I used to see 10 years ago. Actually, in practically every case I have ever seen, a test of the blood sugar—made in a good laboratory—showed that it was normal; and hence the doctor who made the diagnosis must have been misled by some laboratory technician.

I would never think of treating a patient for hypoglycemia unless several laboratories had reported a decidedly low sugar, and unless the patient was having most of his distress in the early morning, when his blood sugar must be at its lowest. Also, I would not diagnose hypoglycemia unless the person could always get quick relief from his symptoms by eating some candy.

SYMPTOMS VANISH

Most of the women I saw with a supposed hypoglycemia could not have had it as the cause of their symptoms because some of their attacks came shortly after luncheon or dinner, when the blood sugar is likely to be high; and in many the symptoms cleared up by themselves, or after the taking of a little black coffee or a tablet of aspirin—neither of which would have influenced a low blood sugar.

Actually, I cannot remember having seen a case of so-called "functional" and not cancerous hypoglycemia in which an able laboratory technician could show that the blood sugar was significantly low, or in which I thought the symptoms were of the sort that could be due to a low blood sugar. In many cases the spells were typically migrainous or nervous in nature. We physicians must keep remembering that no symptoms are produced by a moderate lowering of the blood sugar. Symptoms do not appear until a person's blood sugar has been dropped way down to 50 mgs. or less. The normal is somewhere between 80 and 120 mgs.

Damages Total $4,259 Against Young Motorist

General damages of $3,000 plus special damages of $1,259 were awarded Mrs. Theresa M. Hale, 3245 Wicklow, in Supreme Court here by Mr. Justice A. D. Macfarlane, as a result of an accident in November, 1955.

The judgment was against Robert D. Green, 18, 841 Selkirk, a ward of the Children's Aid Society.

The mishap took place while Mrs. Hale was crossing the intersection of Hillside at Wark at 8.15 p.m. Nov. 19, 1955.

In rendering his decision, Mr. Justice Macfarlane said Green had the opportunity of swerving his car, but failed to do so.

Mrs. Hale was in hospital more than four months, suffering multiple fractures to the pelvis, and a broken nose.

E. S. Davidson appeared on behalf of Green and P. J. Sinton for Mrs. Hale.

Christian Minority Influence in India

Although only one of every 37 Indians is Christian, the religion has had a profound influence on Asian thinking. Rev. T. M. Dustan, headmaster of a Christian boarding school in Palampur, India, said here Wednesday.

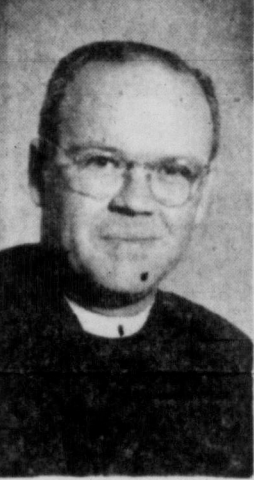

"It was one of the chief inspirations for Gandhi, which he himself acknowledged," he said. "It has been responsible indirectly or directly for many social reforms."

To combat Hindu charges that Christianity is the religion of imperialism, Mr. Dustan said churches in India are working "frantically" to develop Indian leadership.

"However, missionaries will certainly be needed for a very long time," he said.

Former curate at Christ Church Cathedral, Hamilton, Ont., Mr. Dustan has been headmaster at St. Paul's High School in Palampur for the past 10 years.

B.C. Chronic Care Expansion Not Linked to National Scheme

Extension of hospital insurance in British Columbia to cover chronic patients does not hinge on the introduction of a national health care program, an official of the provincial health department said today.

He admitted, however, that the dollar-a-day chronic care plan was originally designed to fit into a national program, and the provincial government was prepared to carry it until the national program started.

Shriners' hospitals for crippled children at Spokane and Portland treated more than 200 B.C. children in 1956, according to a letter received by Victoria Gizeh Shrine Club.

Written by director S. Dorothy Andrew, the letter thanked the Victoria club for a $1,000 cheque. Money was raised at a club-sponsored horse show and hockey night.

(A spokesman for the premier said no such decision has yet been made.)

At the moment it is considered very unlikely a national health plan will be introduced in Canada this year.

Liberals, CCF Plan Strategy On Dismissals

Fired Law Clerk Says 'Force Only' Would Keep Him From Legislature Duties

City lawyer W. Berkeley Monteith today re-emphasized his determination to attend the opening of the B.C. legislature as law clerk in defiance of his dismissal by the cabinet.

"Unless I am forcibly restrained I shall take my place in the House as usual," Mr. Monteith said.

"As matters stand, I remain the law clerk of the Legislature and I propose to carry out the duty I owe that body until my resignation is requested through the medium of a duly elected speaker."

Mr. Monteith claims that Thomas Irwin, as speaker-designate, had no authority to "suggest" that he tender his resignation.

He claims the suggestion was made in a letter he received from Mr. Irwin several weeks ago. Mr. Monteith replied stating that Mr. Irwin had no authority to request his resignation until he had been elected speaker.

But on Wednesday the B.C. cabinet stepped into the picture. It formally rescinded Mr. Monteith's appointment and announced that the post had been given to Ian Horne, another Victoria lawyer, who was returning officer in the Sept. 19 provincial election.

Mr. Monteith's refusal to accept his dismissal means that the state ceremonies accompanying the opening of the Legislature on Feb. 7 may erupt into a full-scale debate.

WHOLE HOUSE

The cabinet's action will have to be approved in a motion put to the whole House and opposition members are likely to protest.

"We shall not stand idly by and see anyone unfairly dismissed," city Liberal member George Gregory said today. "But I do not think we should have a political row on opening day if it can be avoided."

"The correct thing to do would be to adjourn debate on the motion until the following day. If, however, the premier does not accept a motion to adjourn, we shall have to settle the matter on opening day."

Mr. Gregory added that he proposed having "a long talk" with Mr. Monteith before deciding what line of action he would take in the House.

PARTY CAUCUS

CCF leader Robert Strachan said a party caucus will be held Feb. 5 to decide whether it would be right to disturb the formality of opening day by opposing the cabinet motion.

"Such a move should not be made lightly," he said. "On the other hand, we are determined to investigate the whole matter fully."

The Legislature will also be asked to approve the cabinet's dismissal of former sergeant-at-arms Edgar A. Jamieson, who was suspended after telling a legislative committee he had been "out to break" former lands and forests minister Robert E. Sommers.

NO REASON

The cabinet order rescinding Mr. Monteith's appointment gave no reason for the step.

"I have never had any quarrel with the cabinet or with any member of the government," Mr. Monteith said. "On the contrary Alex Matthew (chairman of the private bills committee and Social Credit M.L.A. for Vancouver Centre) has expressed his appreciation of my services and said he did not know how the committee could function without me."

"My dismissal is not in consequence of anything I have done or not done."

Mr. Monteith termed the move "a breach of privilege in that it trenches on the prerogative of the legislative assembly, to control its own officers."

At the last session, he added, Premier Bennett had promised that the honorariums paid to permanent officers of the legislature would be increased. As law clerk he received $1,200 a year.

POLITICAL PLUMS

"Putting two and two together, the anxiety of the cabinet to kiss me goodbye and welcome a new incumbent is indicative that the premier intends to implement a promise he made earlier that appointments of clerks to the legislature will be in the nature of political plums."

The Speaker-designate said Wednesday appointments of officers to the House are "not made for life but at the pleasure of the executive council."

When asked what he would do if two law clerks—Mr. Monteith and Mr. Horne—attended the House on opening day, Mr. Irwin replied:

"I shall decide what to do when and where it happens."

Duties of the law clerk are to revise bills after the first reading, to help with the drawing up of bills by the private bills committee and to see that the annual statutes are prepared and printed.

20 SHOTS—AND PASSES TEST

Burly Two-Fisted Drinker Whips Drunkometer Good!

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—William C. Rose, a husky, two-fisted drinker, had his day in court Wednesday, fighting a drunk driving charge. And what a day it was!

He guzzled down almost 1½ pints of whisky—20 shots of it—in about 4½ hours.

Rose, a rather handsome 238-pound apartment house manager, hoped to prove he could hold a sizeable quantity of whisky and still be in control of his faculties.

City Judge Francis A. Sobieski said he'll probably hand down a written decision Friday.

Rose played cards. "No stakes, you understand. We're in court," he read magazines and talked.

Mostly he drank. And waited. And drank some more. He didn't get drunk. Not according to legal tests, anyway.

But, as he put it, he was "having a ball."

After his 20th slug, the city drunkometer returned a reading of .122. A person is not considered drunk under the law

(AP Wirephoto)
WILLIAM C. ROSE... what a day!

Rose's bout with the bottle was a challenge of the city's drunkometer, which registered the 44-year-old Miami at .246 when he was arrested Dec. 15.

Rose and his lawyers, M. H. Rosenhouse and Ben Militana, contended that even if the .246 reading was correct—a point they never conceded—Rose still would be able to drive safely. Rose says he usually drinks about a pint a day.

The original plan had been to let Rose drink until he hit .246 on the drunkometer. But after his 20th drink—at 3.39 p.m.—the judge called a halt. Visual and reaction tests given before and after the tipping showed a loss of efficiency after drinking in all phases except depth perception.

Rose furnished his own booze—three pints of 86 proof blended whisky.

Judge Sobieski then placed Rose in the care of his lawyers and cautioned them to see that he got home safely.

Lou's Effort Ties It

Rangers
Draw, 4-4,
With Leafs

By KEN WELLS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

It's been the fashion in the National Hockey League this season to change defencemen into forwards and vice versa, and if Lou Fontinato doesn't watch himself he too may find himself up with the attackers.

Leapin' Lou probably doesn't have much to worry about, but New York Rangers, even on coach Phil Watson's admission, are getting a bit desperate and things may even come to that.

Fontinato hasn't done anything yet to make Jean Beliveau and Gordie Howe look to their laurels but Wednesday night he scored a goal, the all-important one that gave Rangers a 4-4 tie with the Maple Leafs in Toronto.

True, it was only his third of the season, but that equalled his entire production last year. Probably none of the 12,546 fans were more surprised than Lou himself when he scored it.

SCORED LYING DOWN

There he was at the 15-minute mark of the third period, skating furiously up the ice, only Marc Reame and Al MacNeil between him and the Leaf goal.

With the inexperience of a Maurice Richard, Fontinato pushed the puck through and split the defence, fell ignominiously as he neared the goal, but flipped the puck over goaltender Ed Chadwick.

The scoring star as the Rangers stayed in fifth spot, five points back of Leafs, was left winger Andy Bathgate, who scored twice and assisted on a third goal.

Parker MacDonald banged in the fourth Ranger goal. George Armstrong, Reame, Bob Pulford and Ron Stewart tallied for Leafs.

LED THREE TIMES

Leafs took the lead three times in the game and outshot Rangers 35-28, but were sunk by their frequent defensive lapses, as on Fontinato's goal.

In Boston's Wednesday, goalie Don Simmons had his first workout with Bruins since being purchased from Springfield Indians of the American Hockey League. He pleased manager Lynn Patrick and coach Mill Schmidt.

Tonight Detroit Red Wings are host to Chicago Black Hawks and a win will give them a tie for first place with Montreal Canadiens.

ALL RIGHT, YOU GUYS, TAKE THAT

Bob Armstrong of the Bruins (at far right) had moved in on Morrison for a stick-swinging episode during the third period. All three received majors for the skirmish. Leafs won game, 4-1. (SNS photo)

SECOND GAME TONIGHT IN CITY HOOP PLAYOFF

Defending champion Dickinson & Dunn will try to take a second step toward a second straight city senior "B" basketball title tonight when it meets Morrisons at Vic High gym in the second game of the best-of-five final.

Norm Baker's squad downed Morrisons, 59-43, Tuesday in the opening game of the series.

Game time tonight is 8:30. The playoff will be preceded by an exhibition game at 7 between Victoria College Vikings and Rose Fuel.

Vikings were originally scheduled to meet Chinese Students tonight in the second game of a best-of-three city junior final, but Students defaulted the title after losing, 106-27, in the opening game Tuesday.

DECISIONS ROGERS

Boardman Next On Ortiz' List

CHICAGO (UP)—Carlos Ortiz, that he would attempt to pit Ortiz against Boardman in a television bout March 13.

Ortiz, who had an advantage over Rogers in height and reach as well as in weight, used his jab to keep his foe at bay most of the time.

But his most punishing punch was a right hook lead to the body and a left hook to the head.

Ortiz was warned on low blows in the fourth and seventh rounds and when referee Bernie Weisman took the seventh away from him.

Both judges, Howard Walsh and Harold Marovitz, did the same. Still all three gave Ortiz a final margin of four or more points.

Toronto Rinks Defeat Scots In Cup Series

TORONTO (CP)—Toronto rinks won three and tied one of five Strathcona Cup matches against touring Scottish rinks at Toronto's Granite Club Wednesday.

Aggregate score was 58-45 for the local rinks, boosting Canada's lead over the Scottish representatives to 89-60.

The Stan Sarjeant rink scored the most convincing victory of the day, downing the rink skipped by Alex Mayes, 16-7.

Only Scot to win was William Wilson, defeating A. J. Parkhill's four, 11-10.

The Scottish rink skipped by William Mitchell and Bert Kennedy's Toronto four curled to a 10-10 tie. Other Canadian victories were: Stewart Graham over William Piper 12-11; and Andy Grant over James McWhirter 10-6.

The Scottish representatives have five more matches in Canada during the current Strathcona Cup series. They play in Hamilton today, and later at Ottawa, Montreal, Moncton and Halifax.

Pete Finds Range On Net This Time

Gets Points
For Royals;
Regals Win

New Westminster Royals' Pete Durham, who has achieved a certain measure of fame in the Western Hockey League by the robust use of his stick on opposing players' anatomies, wielded it Wednesday night in a more conventional manner.

Durham scored the winning goal late in the third period as the Royals clipped the Seattle Americans, 3-2, before 2,016 fans at New Westminster. At that, it was a ragged effort, the puck glancing off the skate of Seattle's Kinasevich and into the net.

In other WHL action Wednesday, Brandon Regals and Calgary Stampers roughed it up in typical Durham fashion at Calgary before the Regals scored three times in the third period for a 6-5 victory.

Royals' victory boosted them up to within eight points of first-place Seattle in coast division standings.

Before Durham's sixth goal of the season, 21-13-67, the third, Denny Olson and Max McNab had scored for New Westminster, with replies from George Senick and Lionel Repka of the Americans. Ollie Dorohoy assisted on both Royal goals.

OLSON OPENS SCORING

Olson opened the scoring at 4:26 of the first, completing a relay from Dorohoy and Steve Hrymuk.

Senick scored the midway mark of the third to give the Americans a 2-1 lead, but McNab tied it up at 17:50 to set the stage for Durham's effort.

At Calgary, referee Joey Johns doled out 17 penalties, including four majors, as the Regals led, 2-1, after the first period, dropped behind, 5-3, after the second, and rallied strongly in the third.

Most spectacular fight of the evening came in the third period when Calgary goalie Hank Bassen tangled with Brandon's Len Haley. The pair started off by fencing with their sticks, began throwing punches, and ended up by wrestling on the ice.

Both were awarded five-minute majors, with Enio Scisizzi serving Bassen's sentence.

THREE FOR SCISIZZI

Scisizzi still found time, however, to lead the Stamps in scoring with three goals. Milan Marcetta and Frank Ashworth scored the other two Calgary goals, while Don Raleigh with two; Les Lilley, Ray Manson, Haley and Elliott Chorley counted for the Regals.

Chorley scored the winner at 15:31 of the third.

Regals had to survive a harrowing last minute, however, before gaining the victory. With Chorley in the penalty box with 44 seconds to go, Stamp coach Les Fogelin yanked Bassen and sent six forwards into the fray.

Vic Lynn of Brandon was then penalized with 17 seconds to go, but still the Stamps couldn't come up with the tying goal.

The win moved the Regals to within four points of prairie division leaders, Edmonton Flyers. It was their first game of a road trip that sees them invade the coast division Friday night with a game against the Victoria Cougars at Memorial Arena.

'POWER-PACKED' DIET KEY TO AUSSIE SUCCESS

CHICAGO (UP)—Australian swimmers made chumps out of their Olympic opposition partly because they trained on a scientific "power-packed" diet, a physical fitness expert said today.

The authority is Dr. Thomas Cureton, head of the University of Illinois physical fitness laboratory, and the diet largely responsible for the Aussies' record-shattering performances is wheat germ.

The doctor, who has just completed a survey of Olympic training methods in Melbourne, said the Down Under athletes were put on a stiff, supervised program of physical training six months before the Games started.

"Heavy emphasis was placed on scientific feeding," he said.

The athletes were fed an allotment of wheat germ oil and wheat germ cereal every day, while their diet was fortified with minerals and vitamins in synthetic form.

"This, of course, was in addition to their regular consumption of other foods—anything they wanted, with the exception of fried foods," Dr. Cureton said.

LAST ROCK DOES IT

Campbells Drop From Bonspiel

By ARCH MACKENZIE

MONTREAL (CP)—The curling Campbells of Avonlea, Sask., dropped from the main event of Royal Montreal Curling Club's 150th anniversary bonspiel Wednesday night in a ding-dong battle won 12-11 by a host club entry on last rock.

Favored for the Duke of Edinburgh badge, skip Garnet Campbell yielded to Bob Munro of Royal Montreal who counted two on the 12th and last end by making good a draw shot.

Manitoba, New Brunswick and Northern Ontario also entered the semi-finals, while Scotland, Quebec and a second Royal Montreal rink faltered.

The all-Winnipeg entry representing Manitoba, with veteran Leo Johnson skipping, finally cracked a stubborn Scottish rink with a four-ender in the ninth and won 13-7. The Scots, representing the Royal Caledonia Curling Club, led 6-4 after six ends on the consistently brilliant curling of skip Bob Carcary, four Perth butchers.

Today, Manitoba and Northern Ontario tangle in one bracket of the semifinals and New Brunswick and Royal Montreal in the other.

The Campbell brothers led 11-10 coming home, but Munro held last rock and used it to count two. Playing third for him was another Campbell, Clarence, president of the National Hockey League.

In the first round of the consolation matches in the main event Jimmy Wolfe of Edmonton, Alberta skip, bested Mr. Chief Justice Thane Campbell of P.E.I., 16-5. Pete McIntyre of Trail, B.C., triumphed 14-6 over the Grand National Curling Club of America, led by Dr. Bob Hurd of Utica, N.Y.

Maple Leafs Whip Flyers

NELSON (CP)—Mickey Maglio and Wendy Keller took passes from Lee Hyssop to score 40 seconds apart in the second period here Wednesday night as they sparked Nelson Maple Leafs to a 5-2 victory over the league-leading Spokane Flyers.

Hyssop, the defending Western International Hockey League scoring champion whose recent scoring spurt has carried him to a spot among the league's top 10 scorers, set up Maglio for a 30-footer, then found Keller uncovered in front of Spokane goalie Gerry Koehle to give Nelson a 3-1 lead.

Fritz Koehle, brother of the Spokane netminder, Jim Palla and Barth Lipsack also scored for the third-place Leafs. Art Jones, the league's top scorer, and Rock Crawford replied for Spokane.

Maglio, the veteran left-winger who sparked Leafs to their early-season successes, twice ricocheted shots off goalposts with Koehle well beaten.

BOSOX SIGN BREWER
BOSTON (AP)—Tom Brewer, who won more games than any other Boston pitcher last season, signed Wednesday to hurl for the Red Sox this year. Brewer, who won 19 games and lost nine last season, received a substantial raise.

Canadiens Establish Forum Police Force

MONTREAL (CP)—A special police force of 10 men now in operation at Montreal Forum and only a few details remain to establish their full duties, managing director Frank Selke of the Montreal Canadiens organization said Wednesday.

Purpose of the force is to control crowds and to guard against demonstrations by hot-headed hockey fans.

The special uniformed force has been on duty at hockey games nearly a month. Names of the men, recruited from the Forum's staff of ushers, have been submitted to the attorney-general's department in Quebec and to Ottawa authorities.

Upon receipt of information that the men have been approved, particularly with respect to absence of a criminal record, they will be officially sworn in as special constables and empowered to make arrests in the Forum and in an area 100 feet beyond its confines.

The force was organized by Forum officials with co-operation of officers of the Montreal police department.

The worst trouble the Forum has experienced was the "Richard riots" of March 17, 1955. A comparatively minor demonstration broke out last Jan. 11, when Toronto Maple Leafs played Canadiens.

Brooklyn Dodgers ran their list of satisfied players to 33 with seven to go, with the signing of three rookies—first baseman Jim Gentile, infielder Jasper Spears and utility man Mike Napoli.

Bob Cerv, a former Yankee, signed his Kansas City Athletics contract. Right-handers Tom Brewer and Frank Sullivan, aces of the Boston pitching staff, signed up quickly after talking with Red Sox general manager Joe Cronin.

Jim Hearn, also a right-handed pitcher, agreed to Philadelphia Phillies terms.

Injury Sidelines Hab Defenceman

ST. VINCENT DE PAUL, Que. (UP)—Defenceman Doland St. Laurent of the National Hockey League Montreal Canadiens suffered a broken nose last night in an exhibition game with the Montreal Royals.

The accident happened in the third period when St. Laurent was clipped by Guy Rousseau's stick.

Coach Toe Blake said he did not know how long St. Laurent would be lost to the club.

CONTRACTS FOUR IN

The Yankees did sign two more players Wednesday, however, when shortstop Billy Hunter and Jerry Lumpe sent in their contracts.

Other clubs also continued to line up their players without too much trouble.

HOUSEMAID DEMONSTRATES AUSSIE TENNIS INTEREST

Bill Knew It Was No Olympic Event

BY WILL GRIMSLEY
NEW YORK (AP)—Bill Talbert, non-playing captain of the U.S. Davis Cup team, tells of a couple of enlightening experiences connected with the recent ill-fated American campaign in Australia.

At Adelaide, where the Australians won the challenge round in late December, a housemaid came into Talbert's room at the hotel South Australia and immediately struck up a tennis conversation.

"Tell me, Mr. Talbert," she said, "how is Vic Seixas coming along with his low volley. He's very weak on it, I think."

Talbert blinked.

Later, after the team had been shut out 5-0 and was returning home, the squad encountered two U.S. airline stewardesses in the restaurant at Honolulu.

"Oh, so you're coming back from Australia," one of the stewardesses said. "I'm so glad you won."

She thought the Davis Cup team was part of the Olympics.

These incidents point up the difference in tennis emphasis in the United States and Australia and show why the U.S. has cause to be worried about its tennis future although present high officials consider the present slump temporary and nothing to be alarmed about.

Australia is a country of 10,000,000 people compared with the United States' 170,000,000, yet it has taken the tennis initiative, winning the Davis Cup the last two years, producing an all-Australian final (Lew Hoad and Ken Rosewall) in the U.S. national tournament and winning the U.S. junior championship with young Rod Laver.

"In Australia tennis is the No. 1 sport," says Talbert. "In America it is seventh or eighth. We can't expect to compete evenly while Australians play 12 months a year and our boys play only four."

Aussie players, such as Rosewall and Hoad, are plucked from school at the age of 13 or 14. They are immediately given good-paying jobs by sporting goods concerns (Rosewall was making the equivalent of $12,000 a year before he turned pro) and they are placed under expert coaches, such as Harry Hopman.

The city of Sydney has 1,200 lighted tennis courts alone—more than in the entire United States. All big cities have an abundance of grass courts, which are available to anybody for a small fee. The United States' grass courts are concentrated in the East and are open only to the country club set.

Phil Has Nasty Ideas About Ottawa Tactics

VANCOUVER (CP)—Phil Webb, retiring general manager of the British Columbia Lions, has some nasty suspicions about Ottawa Rough Riders.
 Webb indicated Wednesday that if he had some proof he might think the Rough Riders were tampering with the western football club's number one choice in the Canadian college draft—Jim Hughes, 220-pound tackle with Queen's University of Kingston, Ontario.

"We have no proof," Webb said, "but it was commonly known at Winnipeg last week end that Ottawa has been interested in Hughes for some time."
 Hughes is reported to have announced Tuesday that he is not in favor of starting his professional career as far away as Vancouver.
 "When Clem (Lions' coach Clem Crowe) talked to him last fall, he seemed agreeable to moving here if we drafted him," Webb said. "Now it appears he has a change of heart."
 "It's a cinch someone has been talking to him."
 He said Crowe will be going to Ontario within a month to sign the draft choices of the Western Interprovincial Football Union club.

MAY MAKE DEAL

If Hughes doesn't sign then, Webb said, "I imagine something will be done." The Lions could tell Hughes that if he doesn't play for them he won't play for anyone else, or they could make a deal involving another player or cash with the club the player wants to join.
 In Ottawa, James P. McCaffrey, Rough Rider general manager, said he doubted there was any Ottawa "tampering" with Hughes.

"I don't know anything about it," McCaffrey told a reporter. "Coach Frank Clair looks after signing the players for Ottawa and I doubt very much if he has done any tampering with Hughes."
 McCaffrey said Clair now is in the United States recruiting players. Clair was in Winnipeg last weekend.

Switch to U.S. Style Just Isn't Cricket

OXFORD, England (Reuters)—Oxford University sportsmen are up in arms over a decision to throw out the traditional British rowing style in favor of a medal-winning American method.

Two of Oxford's rowing coaches have walked out in protest against the change-over, decided upon by president Rod Carnegie of the Oxford University Rowing Club.
 Carnegie is an Australian, and says his nationality allows him to judge the best rowing style without any influence from British tradition.

He is supported by Oxford's chief coach, John Page, manager of Britain's disappointing Olympic team at Melbourne last fall.

Chief difference between the two styles is that the American method allows for a greater sliding length for each oarsman and the use of a shorter oar. American and European crews using this style won four gold medals at Melbourne.

Cotton Eligible

LONDON (AP)—Henry Cotton, former British Ryder Cup captain and three-time winner of the British open golf title, will be eligible for the British seniors' championship this year. He will be 50 on Saturday.

The winner of the British senior tournament, April 19-22, will play the U.S. senior champion in Britain shortly before the British Open July 1-5.

British Managers Join Title Flurry

LONDON (UP)—The possibility of an elimination tournament between top contenders in the United States and Europe for Sandy Saddler's vacant featherweight boxing title is to be discussed by the respective boxing authorities, it was learned today.

J. Onslow Fane, member of the world championship committee, plans to discuss with the New York State Athletic Commission the best means of finding a new champion.

Saddler's retirement has caused a flurry of excitement between two of Britain's fight managers, who are both anxious to press their claims for inclusion in any mooted elimination tourney.

Hogan Bassey of Nigeria, British Empire champion, is Britain's top contender for the world title, but is faced with possible loss of his title and a crack at the world crown if he ignores the orders of the British Boxing Board of Control.

The board has ordered Bassey to defend his title against Percy Lewis, the Trinidad featherweight now residing at Oxford, or be deprived of his title.

George Biddles, manager of Bassey, preferred to aim at the bigger prize, but would not commit himself. "I am going to wait and see what decision is made regarding the world championship," he said.

Meanwhile, manager Jim Wicks, continued to press the claims of Lewis, who he hopes will be matched with Bassey in the next few weeks.

"The winner of this bout should be put forward by the British Boxing Board of Control as a candidate for any eliminators which may be organized to find a successor to Saddler," Wicks said.

A meeting of the British Boxing Board of Control is expected to be held shortly to discuss British contenders for Saddler's vacated crown.

Citizens Don't Know City; Tourist Group to Show 'Em

The tourist trade group of the Chamber of Commerce plans to hold this spring conducted bus tours for Victorians to acquaint them with their community and teach them a little of the city's history.

Sam Lane, chairman of the group said today the "familiarization" tours are specially aimed at people who come in contact with tourists.

Transportation companies are solidly behind the scheme, he added.

"I heard of a case where a tourist asked a shop girl what there was to see here," Mr. Lane said.

"He was told that there was nothing to see in Victoria and was advised to go to Vancouver."

Mr. Lane also said one waitress was unable to tell a visitor the location of Christ Church Cathedral.

She had lived here 10 years and had never heard of the cathedral.

In Quebec, where tourism is a main industry, Mr. Lane said, the average citizen knows the historical background of his city and is able to tell the visitor interesting things to see.

Eye-Witness Hints Murder Victim Met Death Trying to Stop Fight

The Canadian Press
VANCOUVER—A crown witness suggested during a murder trial Wednesday that a 22-year-old man who was beaten to death during a brawl met death while trying to break up the fight.

Mrs. Joyce Barber said that she saw the victim, Bill Martin, talking to one of three men accused of his murder in what she believed to be an attempt to stop the fight.

Seven men took part in the drinking party brawl May 26 when Martin was beaten over the head.

Accused of his murder are William Crompton, 26; Louis Pronin, 22, and Conrad Gunn, 25, all of Vancouver. They have pleaded not guilty.

Mrs. Barber modified her earlier testimony that she saw Gunn strike Martin "with something shiny in his hand."

Asked by defence counsel Hugh McGivern if she could swear that Gunn hit Martin with a weapon "of any sort," Mrs. Barber replied: "No, sir."

The witness said she "still thought it was Gunn, but I'm not sure."

Crown prosecutor Stewart McMoran has called 21 witnesses during the assize court trial which resumes Monday.

Ottawa Votes Money For Telescope

It is likely a portion of the $150,000 granted the Dominion Astrophysical Observatory under federal public works estimates will be used for start on a new telescope on Little Saanich Mountain, observatory officials said today.

The new telescope, which would take about three years to build, would cost an eventual $250,000. It would be used for study of star spectra, brightness and color, by use of photo-electric cells.

Head of the project and observatory, Dr. R. M. Petrie, leaves next week for the annual meeting of the Royal Astronomical Society of Canada, of which he is president.

He addresses the society in Toronto Feb. 8, and will go from there to Ottawa to determine exactly where the public works department grant should be allocated.

Boat Harbor At Courtenay 'Health Menace'

COURTENAY—Upper Island Health Unit has complained to Courtenay city council of conditions in Courtenay slough, a backwater of Courtenay River where several boats are moored. Dr. L. S. Anderson, director of the unit, said a number of people live on the boats, and that the existing state of the boat harbor is a health hazard.

Anglicans Seek New Church at Parksville

PARKSVILLE—Anglicans here have named a committee to investigate ways and means of building a $35,000 church for the district.

Rev. John Stainer, rector of St. Anne's at French Creek, says a new church would not mean closing St. Anne's, a log church that dates back to the early days of the district.

STUDY IN GERMANY

Some 7,000 foreign students were enrolled in West German universities for the term ending in 1957.

In the group were nine families, including nine children from 13 months to high school age, four single men, and three single women.

Children already have started school, and English classes for adults will begin shortly.

The refugees arrived by bus at the community hall, where they were served tea, then registered and taken to accommodation that had been arranged in advance.

Bedding and clothing were distributed from a supply depot that had been established in a vacant store building. Residents have been "generous with offers of supplies and homes, the organization reported.

Minister to Hear Arguments Supporting Sooke School Vote

SOOKE—Arguments in favor of supporting the school building referendum prepared by Sooke School Board will be presented by trustees Tuesday at 9 a.m. at a meeting with Education Minister Leslie Peterson.

The education department has approved the referendum with the exception of the board's plans for Belmont and Milnes Landing High Schools, where the board wants to build bigger additions than the department feels are warranted.

LADYSMITH (CP)—Acting on the advice of Deputy Municipal Affairs Minister J. E. Brown, the Chamber of Commerce voted Wednesday to hold in abeyance any further action regarding extension of city boundaries until after the legislative session opens.

In reply to a letter of enquiry from committee chairman E. F. N. Robinson, Mr. Brown said it is proposed at the forthcoming session to introduce a new Municipal Act. He suggested that since the act will have a bearing on extension of boundaries, the request be deferred.

Minister to Hear Arguments Supporting Sooke School Vote

Trustees will suggest financing proposed construction out of current revenue. According to Mrs. Isabelle Reader, finance committee chairman, raising the mill rate to the level prior to a reduction last year would provide enough revenue to carry out a five-year building program without borrowing money.

CAR STUCK IN SNOW

Chemainus Man Died Of Carbon Monoxide

LADYSMITH—A man whose car became stuck in a snowbank early Sunday morning died of carbon monoxide poisoning after possible help had come and gone.

Victim was Harold Westwood Gunderson, 33, employee of MacMillan and Bloedel Ltd. at Chemainus, a father of four children.

Inquest into the man's death was held Wednesday, and funeral services were held today in Chemainus.

The jury's verdict was accidental death.

Frank Van Horne, a witness, said at the inquest that he saw Mr. Gunderson's car at 2:40 a.m., standing on Bayview Road with lights on and engine running. Mr. Gunderson was lying across the front seat asleep, and his window was fully open.

"I could hear him breathing quite distinctly," he said.

Mr. Van Horne said he turned the headlights and motor off, left the parking lights on, and reported the incident to the RCMP here.

Const. J. Douglas, who took the report, said he had decided no action was needed since the car had been left with the motor off and the window open.

At 10 a.m. Sunday, Const. Douglas said, he was told a man had been found dead in his car on Bayview Road.

On investigation he found Mr. Gunderson dead, but sitting upright in the driver's seat. Windows were tightly closed, the ignition was turned on, and the gas tank was empty, he said.

Dr. H. Cantor testified that death had been caused by carbon monoxide poisoning.

ROBBERY JITTERS HIT HOTEL NIGHT CLERK

Victoria's got the hold-up jitters again. At 3 a.m. today, about seven hours after a city grocery store was robbed, two men strode into the lobby of the Churchill Hotel.

One of them pointed a finger at night clerk F. W. Walker and said, "This is a hold-up."

The other man started to open the door leading to the rear of the desk.

Mr. Walker, quite naturally, yelled, "Help!"

At that, the two men chorused in unison, "This is only a joke," and fled out the door.

Police, harassed by the three armed robberies in the last three weeks, weren't taking the incident too seriously today.

They were too busy working on last night's confectionery store robbery and the $965 hold-up at city hall a week ago. The city hall bandit is still at large, after fleeing in a 1946 model car and shedding a jacket and hat he bought just for the robbery.

MONTE ROBERTS

Problems, problems, always problems. And I do not mean ordinary, everyday, comparatively insignificant problems.

I do not mean the problem of hydrogen bomb control. I do not mean the problem posed by Nasser, not the problem of austerity in England resulting from the Suez Canal crisis. I do not mean the problem of completing the gas pipe line in Canada, or a fast ferry service from Sidney.

I mean a brand new problem—or, rather, a problem which is brand new to me.

I would not have known it existed, had it not been brought to my attention by a constituent.

But since having the problem described, I have done nothing but puzzle over it, worry over it, and rustle around, consulting authorities and reference books in an effort to solve it.

But enough of this preamble. Here is the problem.

It was described to me by a constituent who lives on Battery Street.

Battery Street, as you undoubtedly know, is in the vicinity of Beacon Hill Park.

And the constituent referred to makes it a practice to stroll through Beacon Hill Park and admire the ducks who dwell therein.

Now, in this type of weather, it is only natural the constituent would wish to see the ducks are amply fed. And thus arises the problem.

The constituent telephoned me, and said: "Perhaps you can help me. I wish to feed the ducks, but how can you feed the ducks without feeding the seagulls?"

You see what I mean by a problem of truly world-shattering magnitude?

It is not a problem which can be solved by passing a law, or an act of parliament, or conducting a public relations campaign.

It is not a problem which can be solved by massive retaliation.

It is a problem which will haunt me to the end of my days.

How DOES one feed the ducks without feeding the seagulls?

This way madness lies, and I do wish my constituents wouldn't bring up such matters.

But I would dearly love to hear a solution.

TOPICS OF THE DAY

George Lindsay, superintendent, Motor Vehicle Branch, will address the annual meeting of the Victoria Automobile Club at the Empress Hotel next Tuesday at 3.30 p.m. He will speak on "Motor and Drivers Licensing Problems in B.C."

Meeting of Social Credit Association, zone five, tonight at the James Bay Community Hall has been cancelled because of snow.

Address on "Death: Earth's Greatest Illusion," will be given by Mrs. Edith Chesman, past president of Besant Lodge, at a public meeting sponsored by the Theosophical Society, 904 Government Street, Sunday at 8 p.m.

Two youths today were remanded to Monday for sentence after pleading guilty to a charge of assault causing bodily harm to another youth.

William L. Smith pleaded guilty Wednesday and his cousin, Dennis Smith, entered the same plea today after being transferred from juvenile court.

They admitted assaulting Curtis Purden on a Veterans' Stages bus outside the depot Monday night.

They gave no reason for the attack, but William Smith told Magistrate H. C. Hall he had been drinking and didn't know what he was doing. Probation reports were ordered.

ASK THE TIMES

Q.—How did the unprecedented heavy snowfall here during the First World War compare with the present snow period?—T. W. F.

A.—In terms of snowfall it was a contrast rather than a comparison. That snowstorm started on Feb. 1 and continued on Feb. 2, 1916. An item in the Daily Times on Feb. 2 said in part: "Today Victoria is interred beneath nearly five feet of snow. Between yesterday noon and 5 o'clock this morning there fell 14 additional inches in the city." Also in the matter of drifting there was a great difference. The Times stated that at some points where the strong wind had a sweep drifts higher than a man's head were piled up.

Anonymous wishing a question answered is invited to send the question along to The Times, addressed to "Ask the Times," Editor, Questions and Answers, will be published daily.

All questions should deal with matters of fact and be of general interest. The Times does not undertake to solve complex problems.

Ports of Call In Far East Set for Navy

Pacific Command Gets Clearances

The RCN Pacific Command today received diplomatic clearance for two ports of call in the Far East for the training cruiser HMCS Ontario.

The Ontario, with her escorting frigates HMC ships Jonquiere and Stettler, left Pearl Harbor this morning for Guam.

Clearances have been issued for visits to Singapore, Feb. 25 to March 5, and Hong Kong, March 11 to March 18.

It was also announced the three-ship squadron would be at Pearl Harbor again on the return voyage, April 18 to 23.

OTHERS POSSIBLE

Three other possible ports of call are on the itinerary, subject to clearance.

Names of ports cannot be announced officially until approved by the External Affairs Department of Canada, and the countries to be visited.

Aboard the cruiser and three frigates are about 1,000 officers, men and officer cadets. The cadets are from HMCS Venture, the navy's junior officer training establishment at HMC Dockyard, Esquimalt.

Both first and second-year cadets are aboard, the first time the complete complement of Venture has been at sea on the same voyage.

It is expected at least 300 regular navy personnel will earn promotion during the four-month cruise. The ships are due back at Esquimalt May 3.

Crippled Ship Taken in Tow By City Tug

The Victoria tug Island Sovereign, Island Tug and Barge Ltd., took a Costa Rican freighter in tow today eight miles off Brothie Ledge when the freighter reported herself disabled with rudder trouble.

She had no steering in a fresh northeast gale.

The freighter, Ss. Sunrise, was inbound for Vancouver in ballast from Fushiki, Japan.

Message for help was sent at 6.30 a.m., and the Sovereign got a line aboard at 8 a.m.

She is proceeding to Vancouver with the tow. A second Island Tug and Barge towboat, Island Navigator, will meet the Sovereign off East Point, Saturna Island, to assist if necessary.

The freighter is riding high in the water, and without a rudder, cannot combat action of the wind.

Island Sovereign had just returned to Victoria from a towing job when the call for help came in, and immediately slipped her lines and headed out to the side of the Sunrise.

Fiscal Agent Appointment Saanich Plan

Appointment of a fiscal agent to look after Saanich municipal bond issues will be recommended to council by its finance committee, members decided Wednesday.

A relatively new procedure for municipalities, the agent's responsibility is to explore bond markets to determine where money can be most economically invested, review the municipal bond situation from time to time and make recommendations, and enable by expert advice municipal bond planning.

Adoption of the plan will mean Saanich will be in a better position to sell when it needs money, and at a fee established beforehand.

The agent's fee would be between 1 and 1½ per cent, no more. The municipality would retain the right to reject any recommendation at no cost.

UNCERTAIN

Under the system now used, in which bonds are advertised for bids on the open market, there is no way of determining the cost to the municipality.

Also, the system commonly used wastes time and may result in bonds being sold at unfavorable rate through market unbalance in the same period, or sale of less than the total issue, necessitating a repeat invitation for bids.

Two bond firms, A. E. Ames & Co. Ltd., Victoria, and Thomas B. Read & Co., Vancouver, sent representatives to outline the fiscal agent plan to members of the finance committee.

NAVAL SHIP MOVEMENTS

Ontario, Jonquiere, Stettler en route Guam, return May 3. Comox, James Bay, Fortune on exercises, return Feb. 7.

Oshawa on research cruise, returning on or about March 8. Crescent, Sioux, Athabaskan, Cayuga en route Long Beach, return March 7.

YOUNG ROBBERS' DISGUISE

This is the type of kerchief two teenaged hoodlums wore over their faces when they held up tiny grocery store owned by Mrs. Esther Levi, 1308 Gladstone. Courageous little woman pulled the mask from one of the boys who grabbed $20 from the till. (Times photo)

Hold-Up Victim Thought It Joke

Storeowner 'Kibitzed' With Teenaged Armed Robbers

A woman store proprietor who "kibitzed" with a couple of masked, gun-wielding youths because she thought they were fooling, was robbed of $20 Wednesday evening.

Mrs. Esther Levi, petite owner of a confectionery at 1308 Gladstone, admitted today she didn't realize the seriousness of the situation.

That probably explains why she "got mad" and pulled the mask from the face of one of the thugs.

"This is what happened: 'I had been reading in the front of the store and thought I would go back to make a cup of tea. It was about 7.30. 'Then I heard the door open and when I came out there were two fellows standing in front of the counter with red kerchiefs over their faces. One of them had a gun and he told me it was a holdup. 'I thought they were kidding. I didn't know how serious it was and I started kibitzing with him. 'But he was so serious and said 'I mean business.' 'Then the other fellow came around the counter beside me and banged open the till. 'I was dumbfounded. I was so mad I didn't know what was happening and I grabbed at his mask. 'The kerchief slipped down from his face and Mrs. Levi saw the shallow, pale face of a youth with a long, straight nose. 'He was kind of severe looking,' Mrs. Levi said. 'Shaken today by the experience, Mrs. Levi said she wasn't sure she could identify the youth if she saw him again. 'After grabbing about $20 in small bills from the cash register, the two youths ran out the front of the store and went west on Gladstone. 'THUGS RAN 'Some children sleighing on the street saw them run by with the masks still on. 'Neighbors said they saw a mauve-colored "hot rod" car hanging around the street during the afternoon and later at 11.30 p.m. 'Police said today they had no suspects in the robbery. 'The two youths were believed to be about 17 or 18 years old, and both about five feet, three inches tall. They were wearing black jackets. 'The gun they used was a black revolver. 'Mrs. Levi has owned the store almost three years. She bought it after the death of her husband, who had a tailor shop in the city.

Acute Shortage Of Sawdust Here

Fuel dealers here said today that sawdust fuel is in acute short supply and the situation is getting worse.

Companies contacted said they were from two to three weeks behind in orders, and were serving only regular customers and emergency cases.

The situation has been caused by two factors: The cold, which means burning of more sawdust, and curtailment at the production level due to seasonal slump in lumber sales by sawmills.

"The outlook is not bright if the cold spell continues," said one large fuel operator.

Demand for wood, coal and oil fuel has been extremely high, but fuel dealers have been working at high pressure to meet the demand.

Supplies have been more than adequate, and the only delay has been in deliveries to homes.

"Our men are working longer hours than usual to keep up with the demand," a representative of one firm said. "Condition of the roads is mostly responsible for delivery troubles."

WAS IT YOU?

LETTERS TO DRIVERS

(In this column the Times presents letters from and to drivers about careless, discourteous or reckless infractions of driving and pedestrian rules. When you see one, just send in the place, date and time, and what happened. DON'T give the number of the offending vehicle. Only initials of complainants will be used.)

TODAY'S BEEFS

Many times on crossing the pedestrian crossing with my young son—just up from Market Street, next to the Monterey—I have been quite close to either losing our lives or in an accident. I have to use the crossing at least three times a week. When I am at the centre of the crossing a car or truck will wave for us to proceed across and wait till we do so.

This is all well and good, but three or four times it has happened that cars or trucks coming close behind the stopped vehicle and still keep on going, just as we are nearing the other side, narrowly missing us by inches. MRS. A.

Well over 25 per cent of the vehicles travelling city streets never show brake lights. I wonder how many rear-end collisions have been caused by lack of stoplights or air signals. The only solution, until we get a compulsory safety lane, check like Vancouver, is to phone in the licence numbers of offenders to the city police. Let's have an all-out drive with this objective. UBC Students Meet Cabinet On Friday

Seek Improved Facilities

A student delegation from the University of British Columbia is "trekking" to Victoria tonight to press the government for improved housing and academic facilities at the university.

The students, led by trek chairman Bill Trenina, will meet Premier Bennett and his cabinet in the executive council chamber Friday morning.

"So far as is known, we are the only student body in Canada to be privileged to meet a provincial cabinet and discuss our problems at top government level," publicity chairman Sam Huberman told the Times from Vancouver today.

The delegation is due to arrive in Victoria at 6 p.m. It will meet the cabinet at 11 a.m. Friday.

Other members of the delegation are Don Johann, president of UBC's Alma Mater Society; Al Thackray, treasurer, and Jim MacDonald, statistics chairman.

Overcrowding at UBC has been the subject of nation-wide publicity in newspapers, magazines and radio broadcasts during the past few months.

The students will present a brief to the cabinet urging the need for at least $15,000,000 for capital expansion of academic facilities and housing accommodation.

They will also request that the current $10,000,000 grant be made available over the next five years to complete the new arts building and to construct residences and a medical science building.

Mr. Huberman said a recent survey of the campus showed that tar paper wood frame huts make up 135 of the 200 buildings housing the university.

"They house entire faculties, such as commerce and architecture, and are used for lecture rooms and offices," he said.

"Under present conditions only one-third of the 3,500 out-of-town students can be accommodated on the campus — and only 300 of these are in permanent residences. The rest live in converted army barracks, some in rooms only eight feet long and eight feet wide."

Sandbag 'Bank' Sought to Check Spring Flooding

Victoria council was to be asked later today to provide an emergency bank of 1,000 sandbags which could be distributed to residents in event of flooding when snow now in the city begins to thaw.

Alderman J. Donald Smith said he was concerned primarily with the Bowker Creek area where many people were forced to evacuate their homes in December 9 floods.

"I will ask council to invest in a thousand sandbags in case of a quick runoff and resumption of flooding," he said this morning.

HOT-WATER BOTTLE CURE

If you are having trouble in the morning starting your car during this cold spell, take the advice of de-frosting experts to get it going again . . . "put your car to bed for an hour or so with a hot water bottle."

It will work like a charm, they say.

This is what you do. Take a hot-water bottle and place it on the manifold pipe near the carburetor. Leave it there for an hour or so. Then start your car.

Don't forget your hot water bottle; you may need it, too, for cold feet.

Urgent Need for Space Underlined By Mulliner

Fourteen city service clubs were called upon today to get behind the drive to make the new $1,400,000 Royal Jubilee Hospital wing a reality in 1958.

Appeals went out in the mail today, signed by Jubilee board chairman F. G. Mulliner, asking the clubs to support erection of the wing as a "fitting memorial" project for both B.C.'s and the hospital's 100th birthday.

He said the appeal was spurred "by the urgency of long hospital waiting lists."

The campaign for a new 140-bed wing received new impetus Wednesday with the disclosure that Royal Jubilee and St. Joseph's hospitals have waiting lists of 76 patients.

It was learned some of these cases have pneumonia and at least two are cancer patients.

Mayor Percy Scurrell said he would ask city council later today to name a special committee to make a new attempt to break an intermunicipal deadlock on financing.

Victoria-Esquamalt medical health officer, Dr. Elizabeth Mahaffy, underlined the vital need for this morning.

"The need is acute," she stated.

She said it is reflected as well in the Chinese Hospital, where 23 chronic cases, many of them requiring treatment of an acute hospital, have filled every bed.

Acutely-Ill Awaiting Beds

Five other Chinese patients have been transferred to Gorge Hospital and several are waiting for beds at the two acute hospitals.

"Some of those waiting are acutely ill. If the situation is this severe with our small Oriental population, it must be multiplied among the white population," the doctor stated.

Dr. Mahaffy said the raising of funds for the proposed new hospital may not be the biggest problem facing the board.

"Where are they going to get the staff? There is a shortage of nurses everywhere."

The MHO said municipal health departments are working in an attempt to gain licensing of practical nurses here through the provincial government.

She said practical nurses would require one year's training as opposed to three years required for a registered nurse. Under the proposed training plan a practical nurse could enter training with a minimum educational requirement of grade 9 or 10, take three months classwork and spend the duration of her training period in wards.

Jubilee board chairman Mulliner says 120 new posts must be filled when the new wing is built.

40 FACE PROSECUTION ON ROAD, POLL TAXES

Names of 40 Victoria residents who have not paid road and poll tax arrears for 1956 were turned over to city police today for prosecution.

City tax collector Thomas Harris said another group of names likely will be submitted for court action next week. The 40 listed today will be summonsed for appearance in court Feb. 1.

Usual fine is payment of the taxes owing plus $2.50 court charges for each tax, a total of $12, but a maximum of $25 for non-payment of road tax alone is chargeable.

The city abolished road and poll tax as of Jan. 1. It is presumed many persons felt they would not now be called to account for arrears.

Bootleg Case Starts In Accused's Absence

Trial of a man charged with bootlegging was adjourned in city police court today after his counsel said the accused was not present in court because he was "out on a drunk."

W. E. Brethour, representing Roy Fisher of Black and White Taxi, said his client hadn't been seen for the last couple of days.

Mr. Brethour applied to have the hearing put over until he could locate Fisher, but his request was opposed by Prosecutor Alan Bigelow.

The prosecutor asked that the frequently-remanded case proceed without Fisher present in court.

He was upheld by Magistrate H. C. Hall who said, "I see no reason why just because an accused is drunk the case can't go on."

Five Points' 'Syd' Foster Dies at 77

Sydney F. (Pop) Foster, a man whose Five Points confectionery was a mecca for two generations of young Fairfield athletes, died Tuesday in Royal Jubilee Hospital at the age of 77.

With his guidance and support several of the youngsters who made "Foster's Five Points" their hangout in the late 1920s and early 1930s rose to prominence in the world of sport, notably the Patrick boys, Murray and Lynn.

Others, although they did not pursue sport as a vocation, have Pop Foster to thank for his understanding and encouragement in their school lives and local sport.

TEAM SPONSOR

For about five years around 1930 he became well known locally for the basketball team he sponsored, "Foster's Five Points," on which one of his two sons played, Coach was "Muzz" Patrick.

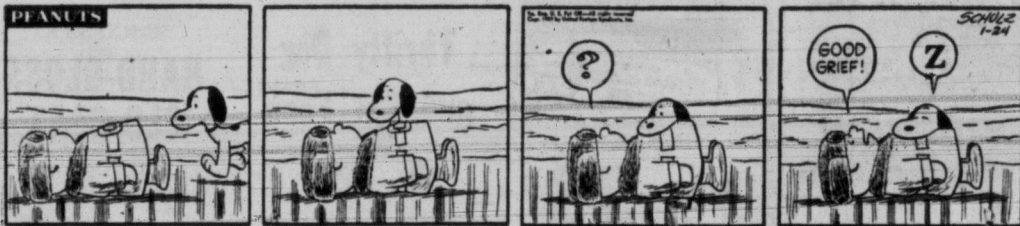

Always a major influence on boys in the Fairfield district until his retirement in 1954, Mr. Foster's shop was a cornerstone which kept the area under control.

"Syd," as he was known to many, boosted basketball in its early rise in Victoria and remained a sports fan until his death, latterly as an eager spectator of professional hockey and baseball in the city.

Born in 1879 in Eastbourne, England, Mr. Foster came to Canada in 1893, settling first in Winnipeg and moving here in 1924, when he started his confectionery business.

RITES SATURDAY

Funeral services, including committal, will be held in McCall's chapel Saturday at 3.30 p.m. Rev. William Allan officiating. Cremation will follow.

Heart-Shaped Serving Tray Has Novel Glass Bell Cover

By PENNY SAVER

Most people are always on the lookout for novel ways of serving ordinary, everyday foods, and I'm no exception. That's why I was so pleased to see the very attractive heart-shaped wooden tray that's gaily painted with scattered flowers. Centering the tray is a glass bell cover that fits snugly in grooves in the wood. At either side of the upper part of the heart are little relish or jam dishes, also neatly fitted into grooves. Two slits hold the blades of cutting knives. This tray would be wonderful as a cheese, fruit or bread server. It would be a charming gift, and one that would be appreciated for years. It costs $10.50.

Here's something a little out of the ordinary for your party plans or gift ideas. It's a bamboo-handled punch server that has a light wooden bowl. Oriental themes for everyday or party use are favorites, and this will be a lovely touch to carry out the rest of the decorations. Each server is $1.

Heavy-knit fishermen sweaters have taken the fashion field by storm, and all colors, styles and weights are available for the up-to-date miss. The newest in the stores are long-sleeved, jacket sweaters with a double row of coggle buttons. There are handy pockets, and a wide, cowl collar that becomes a hood. This thick, heavy knit is terrific for cold and blustery days, and worn under your comfortable car coats, it keeps you warm as toast. You'll find dozens of ways to wear this jacket, for it goes well with sporty tweed skirts, and just as well with your tartan slacks. You can buy them in white, black or tan, colors that can, and will go everywhere. The price on these lovely knits is $25.

For you ski enthusiasts, here are long-sleeved cardigans in a knit that resembles the Fair Isle pattern. A pattern of black, white, red and touches of green is used in these closely-knit styles. The cosy collars can be buttoned right up to form a turtle-neck style if you like. These sweaters are $11.95.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Cancer Can Be Stopped—Must Catch It in Time

Since I reach tens of thousands of women through this column I feel that I can render a service by periodically calling your attention to some of the facts concerning cancer. While this is an unhappy subject, we should not hide our heads in the sand. One of the saddest things about this disease is that so many folks do just that. Therefore thousands die each year who could have been saved.

The most diabolical thing about cancer is the fact that the disease is usually well-developed before the victim feels any discomfort. How then can we protect ourselves? By having regular and complete physical examinations at least once a year, twice after the age of 35. We should also report immediately any unusual symptoms. There are usually symptoms early enough for medical attention which may well effect a cure.

People have such a fear of this disease that they may feel hopeless once they know that they have cancer. The facts are different. The following is from The American Cancer Society: "While it is still very difficult to detect some types of cancer, 65 per cent of all cancers in women and 40 per cent of all cancers in men develop in areas of the body that can be easily examined. About 80,000 Americans are being cured of cancer every year but our doctors assure us that twice that many could be cured—if properly treated in time."

Look at the difference in percentage between present cures and possible cures (as estimated by the medical profession).

Present Cures: Uterine—30 per cent; breast—35 per cent; Rectal—25 per cent; mouth—30 per cent; skin—85 per cent; lung—5 per cent.

Possible Cures: Uterine—70 per cent; breast—70 per cent; Rectal—70 per cent; mouth—65 per cent; skin—95 per cent; lung—50 per cent.

The following is the American Cancer Society's list of warning signals. Any one of these may not mean cancer but for your protection should be investigated.

1. Any sore that does not heal.
2. Any lump or thickening in the breast or elsewhere.
3. Unusual bleeding or discharge.
4. Any change in a wart or a mole.
5. Persistent indigestion or difficulty in swallowing.
6. Persistent hoarseness or cough.
7. Any change in normal bowel habits.

Report any one of these to your family physician. If he feels you need it, he will suggest more extensive tests. Go to him regularly even if you do not have any of these symptoms.

About Returning Baby's Gifts: Our baby died at birth. We had received a variety of gifts and now I don't know what to do with them, so am asking your advice. My doctor says that I will be unable to have any more babies, so I don't want to keep these items as they are sad reminders. Furthermore, we live in an apartment and have no room for storage, even should we try to adopt a baby in the future.

Louise Davis Answers: I suggest that you telephone the people who sent the gifts and tell them that you are offering to return them. My guess is that they will say that they don't want you to return them, in which case you can ask them if they would have any objections if you give them to an institution or to some other worthy cause. If there are some items which seem costly, try to persuade the givers to take them back, for they might be able to give them to someone else.

TODAY'S RECIPE

PEACH SOUFFLE SALAD
One package lemon-flavored gelatin, 1 cup hot water, ½ cup cold water, 2 tablespoons lemon juice, ¼ teaspoon salt, ½ cup mayonnaise, 1 orange, 1 banana, 1 cup canned peach slices, salad greens.

Dissolve gelatin in hot water. Stir in cold water, lemon juice and salt. Add mayonnaise and beat with rotary beater until smooth. Turn into refrigerator tray and place in freezing compartment 15 to 20 minutes, until mixture is set about 1 inch in from edges but soft in centre. Meanwhile, prepare fruits. Pare, quarter and slice orange. Peel and slice banana, and drain peaches thoroughly. Turn gelatin mixture into bowl and beat until smooth and fluffy. Fold in fruits. Turn into individual molds and chill until firm. Unmold on salad greens to serve. Makes six (six-ounce) molds.

Windsor Pack "B" — John Davis, Ken Geary, Don MacKay, Trevor Thomas and Don Woodward were invested as Wolf Cubs by Akela Phyllis Sheffield on Tuesday evening.

R. Milks, district executive commissioner, presented Roger Barty with his first star and Roy Galle with his second-year service star. Mr. Milks gave a talk to the Cubs, telling them of the 50th anniversary of Scouting.

It has been asked what does J-I-M stand for this year in the Scout world. It is the initials of the three large gatherings of Scouts that will take place in England this summer, when about 35,000 Scouts will commemorate the jubilee of Scouting by holding a jamboree, a gathering of Scouts of all ages, an Indaba, a gathering of leaders of Cubs, Scouts and Rovers from all parts of the world. The M stands for the Moot or gathering of Rover Scouts that will take place at the same time.

It will be the ninth world jamboree to be held.

Marigold Troop: Patrol leaders Albert Bowden and John Cox have spent several overnight camps in readiness for their first-class tests.

NEW ARRIVAL: Small terrier, cross, white, one black ear, three black patches on back, found 800 block Selkirk.

READY FOR ADOPTION: Scamp is a one-year-old male Golden Spaniel cross. Loves children.

Cross between Cocker and Collie is "Barky"—actually a very quiet little female, four months old. Black and brown.

HE GIVES AWAY GRAND PRIZES

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prizes? Then Ask Andy.

Andy sends a complete, 15-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia to Pierrette Lepine, aged 11, of Ottawa, Ont., for the question:

What Exactly Is Penicillin? Most sickness is a kind of warfare. Enemy germs invade our bodies and our bodies defend themselves. The home guard is usually drawn from the white blood corpuscles. Even friendly germs inside the body are sometimes pressed into service. The body is a battle ground, sometimes the opposing armies are tiny living things. In the heat of battle we tend to run a fever. We feel weak and spent for a while, even after the enemy is routed.

Modern science has developed ways of helping our side in these germ battles. Certain drugs are injected into the body or swallowed in pill form. They provide reinforcements for the home guard, pitch in against the invaders and the battle ends quickly in our favor. These helpers are the antibiotic drugs. Their name means against life. Modern medicine aids the body by setting friendly living things against enemy living things.

Penicillin is an antibiotic. It is taken from a little mold, a relative of the fungi that form those blue-green molds on stale cheese and old bread. There are countless different molds and many of them do more harm to us than good. Only one in thousands tested can produce an antibiotic drug. The penicillin-giving mold was discovered by lucky accident.

Fleming kept his mold alive, believing it could be developed to fight strep infection — even though no one paid much attention. Ten years later other people began to agree with him. His penicillium mold was coaxed to grow and multiply. In three years they had produced a teaspoonful of extract, a dark brown powder called penicillin. This antibiotic drug was used to help a policeman suffering from strep infection. It relieved his high temperature but there just was not enough of it to save his life.

This was in 1941. England was at war, plenty of skilled help, money and know-how were needed to produce penicillin on a large scale. And America was the place for the job. Even so, it took a year and $28,000,000 before the first batch of mass produced penicillin was ready. Most of that money was put up by the pharmaceutical companies. By 1943, there was enough penicillin to treat about 400 people. Nowadays, enough penicillin to treat everyone is produced in seething vats.

Penicillin is used to treat some, but not all, of the strep infections. It has saved many a person attacked by pneumonia.

Water District Price Scale Unchanged

Wholesale price of water to member municipalities of Greater Victoria Water District will remain unchanged this year, members of the board indicated Wednesday.

The fact was brought out during unofficial discussions prior to a scheduled Water Board meeting at City Hall.

The meeting was not held due to inability to muster a quorum of five members.

Two city delegates and one Esquimalt delegate were unable to be present.

ILL. ARSENT

Victoria Alderman M. M. Mooney is ill and Ald. Arthur Dowell is absent on a winter vacation at Hawaii.

Esquimalt Reeve A. C. Wurtele was absent on business in his own municipality.

On suggestion of members who were present, Mayor Percy Scurrell will ask Council Thursday to appoint an alternate delegate for the city.

Business delayed included study of the proposed 1957 estimates.

The meeting was reset for 2 p.m. next Wednesday in the mayor's office.

John Fairweather Named James Bay Liberal President

John J. Fairweather, 860 Reed, has been elected president by acclamation of the James Bay Liberal Association.

Other officers elected at the annual meeting were Mrs. R. Patenaude, vice-president; Mrs. M. Engelson, secretary, and E. B. Joyce, treasurer.

Representatives to the central executive are Mrs. J. Nelson and Mr. Joyce, and members of the ward executive are Mrs. E. Whyte, Mrs. R. Renfrew, Mrs. H. Ketchell, H. Ketchell, Mrs. I. Bridgman and Mrs. U. James.

Named honorary presidents were Dr. Frank Fairley, Liberal, MPP; Archie Gibbs, Oak Bay, MLA, and George Gregory, Victoria MLA.

Speakers at the meeting were Forrest L. Shaw, president of the Victoria Liberal Association, and Arthur Cox, secretary.

HILARIOUS is the word for The Maxwells, poker-faced comedy team which is one of the sensational starring acts and 10 productions in the all new twelfth edition of the Ice Capades, which opens at the Memorial Arena next Tuesday for a five-day run.

Two Australian skaters, billed simply as the Maxwells, provide a novel new act in Ice Capades of 1957, which opens here Tuesday.

Combining a dead-pan comedy routine with an acrobatic and balancing act—in slow motion, the team holds the house breathless at each performance.

The Maxwells started skating and performing during the Second World War in their home town of Adelaide. American troops told them about Ice Capades and after the war the two youths set out to join the ice show.

They reached the U.S. after visiting in England and performing their way across France, Belgium, Sweden, Norway and Spain. There is one of 20 acts in the big ice show. Main production is Peter Pan.

Named honorary presidents were Dr. Frank Fairley, Liberal, MPP; Archie Gibbs, Oak Bay, MLA, and George Gregory, Victoria MLA.

Speakers at the meeting were Forrest L. Shaw, president of the Victoria Liberal Association, and Arthur Cox, secretary.

BIRD'S WINTER PROBLEMS

Feathered Friends Need Food, Water

The birds are leading a hard life during this cold spell and are begging by the thousands for food and drink.

It's not the cold that is tough on them. Their food is buried under a thick layer of snow. So nature lovers are asking Victorians to feed the birds until the snow melts away.

Bird feeding is simple, they said, but the food should be varied for the species.

For instance, insect-eating birds—chickadees, wrens and woodpeckers—like fats, such as suet, margarine and even shortening. Like any boy or girl, they adore peanut butter. Spread it in the cracks of tree bark.

The grain-eaters will take rolled oats and bread.

The fruit-eaters like cores of apples or peelings.

Snow may be frozen water, but birds can't melt and drink it. So give them water. Sometimes the birds need water more than food.

If you would like to keep the birds around your home throughout the year, keep on feeding them after the cold spell, but don't miss a day. Once they can rely on you, they will keep coming regularly for their free meals.

PATIENT EVEN IN TELEPHONE NOOK

Some patients at Royal Jubilee Hospital are in bed today in corridors and even in telephone nook. Patient crowding is so severe small phone lobby was converted to bed space and phone moved into booth. Users say "excuse me" before dialing. Seventy-six await hospital beds.

'Gross Neglect' Charged In Hospital Bed Crisis

(See also Page 13)

Greater Victoria councils were charged today with "gross neglect" in permitting the serious overcrowding at city hospitals to continue over the last year.

Victoria-Esquamalt Union Board of Health chairman, G. K. Sammon, a former Esquamalt councillor, said: "We have all been remiss in our duties."

He was referring to a deadlock on proposed intermunicipal financing which was reached in the fall of 1955. Since then no discussions have been held and hospital waiting lists grew until now 76 people are awaiting admission.

He said he will ask the Union Board of Health to "... take up the question of hospital overcrowding, discuss it and promote its eradication by construction of a new Jubilee Hospital wing."

Mr. Sammon also stated that as Esquamalt delegate to the Greater Victoria Centennial Committee (he was appointed to that post despite his defeat as a councillor in December): "I am directed by Esquamalt council to vote in favor of the Jubilee wing as a Centennial project, pending the suggestion of other projects not yet considered."

Police said they had a good description of the man, who was seen running down a street near the bank shortly after the theft. No gun was seen by people who witnessed the robbery, police said.

Centennial Grant As Aid?

If the hospital wing is chosen as a Centennial project, the cost will be made less for municipalities by a provincial grant of 60 cents per capita, providing Victoria, Oak Bay, Esquamalt and Saanich put up a similar sum.

Based on 1955 census figures this would mean the province would put up as a Centennial grant $74,719.

Changes in the 1955 census, which have not been considered since the municipal deadlock on cost sharing arose, would greatly reduce Victoria's share of the balance—and add to Saanich's share.

Latest census figures give the Greater Victoria area, which would pay part of the hospital costs, a population of about 124,533. The previous cost-sharing schedule was drawn up on basis of a population of 104,300.

Victoria would be required, if the population basis was still used, to raise 43 per cent of the $325,000 required for this area, instead of 49.3 per cent. Saanich would be asked to contribute over 30 per cent instead of 27.3 per cent based on the old census figures.

Federal, provincial governments and the hospital board would share the bulk of costs of the new hospital wing, about $1,075,000.

Oak Bay and Saanich reeves pledged new co-operation with the city Wednesday in an effort to reach agreement on the cost sharing.

Both Reeve Fred Norris of Oak Bay and Reeve Arthur Ash of Saanich, indicated unwillingness to accept the city arguments for a reduced share of the costs. But both promised to co-operate on new discussions.

'Mad Bomber' Gets Leading Criminal Lawyer

NEW YORK (UP)—One of the city's top criminal lawyers was retained today to defend the "Mad Bomber of Manhattan" against charges which could send him to prison for several lifetimes if he is not judged insane.

Hugh Spellman, former New Haven, Conn., county prosecutor, retained by the maiden sisters of 33-year-old George Metesky, consulted today with noted attorney James D. C. Murray. Both lawyers filed notices of appearance for the smiling, mild-mannered "Bomber" and were expected to visit him today in the Bellevue Hospital psychiatric ward.

Metesky was committed to the hospital for examination shortly after he confessed that he had planted the 34 pipe bombs which have injured 15 persons here since 1940. (See also page 27.)

Israel Won't Quit Gaza Until UN Meets Terms

CHILLIEST OF THE WINTER

Ice-Cold, Record 15 Forecast for Tonight

Coldest temperature of the winter—15 degrees—was forecast for tonight by weatherman William Mackie.

Lowest temperature to date for this winter was 18 degrees, reached Dec. 6.

Except for the slightly colder temperature, the weather picture will be "not much changed" from that of the last few days, Mr. Mackie said today.

"This cold weather is going to continue for at least another 48 hours," he said.

Minimum temperature here overnight was a mild 19 degrees compared to the seven degrees at Patricia Bay Airport, and the two degrees above zero recorded at Nanaimo.

Conditions on the main roads of the Island continue to improve, with all sections cleared and slippery portions sanded.

Vancouver Island Coach Lines reported all buses on time with the exception of one held up by road construction work on the Malahat.

Firm Guarantees Against Aggression Demanded of Egypt

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP)—The Arab-Israeli deadlock remained unbroken in the United Nations today—Israel will not leave the disputed Gaza-Aqaba areas without firm guarantees against Egyptian aggression.

The Jewish state presented Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld with a memorandum reaffirming her intention of holding the Sharm el Sheikh area, key to the Gulf of Aqaba, Israel's southern port, until freedom of navigation is assured.

Simultaneously, at Jerusalem, Israeli Premier David Ben-Gurion asked the United Nations to demilitarize the Sinai desert, scene of Israel's recent victory over Egyptian forces.

In a foreign policy speech to Parliament, the 70-year-old statesman said:

Israel will remain in the Gaza Strip to secure herself against attacks from that area. But she would like to see a suitable relationship set up between the Israeli Gaza administration and the UN.

Israel will keep her forces along the coastal strip of eastern Sinai unless she gets a UN guarantee that Egyptian forces will not use this coastline to bar Israel-bound shipping from the Gulf of Aqaba, cutting her link with the Red Sea.

The Egyptians did that before they were pushed out by the Israeli invasion last November. If Arab nations could not guarantee freedom of shipping in the gulf, UN Emergency Force troops could take over the area and enforce freedom, the premier said.

Parliament endorsed Ben-Gurion's statement by 54 votes to 17.

The opposing votes came from 11 right wing Heruth party supporters and six Communists.

Claims 1949 Pact 'Beyond Repair'

In his statement the premier said Israel is willing to sign immediately an agreement of non-aggression and non-belligerence with Egypt. But the 1949 armistice agreement with Egypt was "violated, broken and beyond repair."

Ben-Gurion urged that nothing be left untried to secure real peace in the Middle East "so that the lands of the bible, in co-operation with one another, should again become a source of inspiration and blessing to the world."

There now may be a major debate in the United Nations on UNEF's role.

Delegations of varying shades of opinion have called for its use in Gaza and Sharm el Sheikh, but under different conditions. The last resolution of the assembly merely called on Hammarskjöld to report on the withdrawal by Friday.

Hammarskjöld's Authority Limited

Hammarskjöld, since the resolution was passed last Saturday has been conferring with both Israeli and Egyptian spokesmen.

When this happens, the delegates will have to decide a large number of questions on the role of the UNEF and the Israeli-Egyptian positions before any new resolution will have a chance of getting the required two-thirds majority in the 80-member assembly.

hearing his report and reconvene Monday after the members have had a chance to consider a new resolution.

When this happens, the delegates will have to decide a large number of questions on the role of the UNEF and the Israeli-Egyptian positions before any new resolution will have a chance of getting the required two-thirds majority in the 80-member assembly.

Nasser Warns West Against Interference

HONG KONG (AP)—Egyptian President Nasser has told Chinese correspondents that any attempt by the Western powers to "internationalize" the Gaza area and the Gulf of Aqaba "would lead to new trouble."

The Communist New China News Agency, reporting an interview which Nasser gave Chinese reporters, said the Egyptian leader also declared:

1. He would give his views on the Eisenhower Middle East plan after the United States had given further explanation. He described the plan as vague.

2. Britain had attacked the Yemen because the Arab kingdom joined free Arab countries six months ago.

3. The recent agreement on Jordan between Arab heads of state would help Arab countries "in opposing foreign interference."

4. He plans to visit China this summer.

Canadians to Control UNEF Move in Sinai

ABU SUWEIR, Egypt (CP)—The Canadian contingent with the United Nations police force in Egypt was preparing today to oversee the largest mass movement of UN troops since the force was moved into the troubled area.

The Canadian contingent is to supervise the moving Saturday of 1,000 soldiers from 10 nations over 100 miles of open desert to take over positions from withdrawing Israeli forces in the Sinai Peninsula.

The move will result in a regrouping of the UN forces.

Troops from Colombia, Indonesia and Brazil are to take up positions in the southeastern edge of the Sinai border area, with soldiers from Yugoslavia, India and Scandinavian countries concentrating in the north-eastern district.

Plans call for the Canadian force to set up vehicle workshops, organize transportation and communications, build up supplies and ordnance depots.

An Indian transport platoon, equipped by the Canadian workshop, is to help.

BODY OF FLIER FOUND STILL STRAPPED IN SEAT

SQUAMISH (CP)—The badly-burned body of FO Roderick L. Atkins of Vancouver, one of two airmen missing since the crash of two T-33 jet trainers north of Squamish Jan. 13 was located by an RCAF ground party Wednesday night.

FO Atkins was found still strapped in his seat.

Two other fliers bailed out at the time of the crash and were rescued.

Society Doctor Must Stand Trial

EASTBOURNE, England (AP)—Society Dr. John Bodkin Adams today was sent to trial at London's Old Bailey on a charge of murdering a wealthy widow.

His huge hands trembling as he gripped the rail of the prisoner's dock, the 58-year-old physician stood up to face the magistrates.

"Do you have anything to say?" asked Chief Magistrate David Honeysett.

"I am not guilty," answered the Irish-born doctor.

"Hear, hear," shouted two grey-haired women in the packed courtroom.

The doctor, blamed with drugging three wealthy patients to death, smiled broadly at these three words of encouragement.

"I reserve my defence," he added, his voice rising to an almost soprano squeak.

zement and violations of the Dangerous Drugs Act.

When the legal arrangements were completed a police constable motioned Adams to leave the courtroom.

GREETING WOMEN

The fat doctor, who wore no overcoat to court for the first time today, smiled and picked up his notebook on which he had been doodling triangles within triangles.

With a smile at the many women in the courtroom he left the prisoner's dock.

"Good evening," he said as he clomped down the 13 steps leading to the Eastbourne jail.

Armored Regiment To Replace Infantry

OTTAWA (CP)—The army is planning to abolish two of its 15 infantry battalions to make way for a new armored regiment, it was learned reliably today.

An infantry battalion comprises some 900 men and an armored regiment about 800 men and 64 tanks.

It was not definite which battalions would be disbanded. Speculation is, however, that it will be two battalions of the Regiment of Canadian Guards or one guards battalion and one battalion of the Royal 22nd Regiment.

In either of these cases, one of the units to be abolished likely would be French-speaking. But the apparent plan is to make the new armored regiment—the army's third—a French-speaking unit.

BALANCE OUT

The Regiment of Canadian Guards now has four battalions and the Royal 22nd Regiment three. The army's other four infantry regiments each has two battalions.

The army wants a new armored regiment so that it will have a tank outfit for each of the three infantry brigades in the 1st Canadian Infantry Division.

Disbandment of two-infantry battalions is regarded as the preliminary move in a coming big overhaul of army formations to make them more mobile and flexible. Brig. Pat Bogert, commandant of the Army Staff College, now is en route to the United Kingdom on a special assignment for Lt. Gen. Howard Graham, chief of the army general staff.

He will study new tactical doctrines in the British Army. He has already done the same thing in the United States.

Smoke Report Starts Search For N.B. Plane

FREDERICTON (CP)—RCMP officers said today reports of smoke in the Grand Lake area of central New Brunswick warrant a full-scale ground search for a missing light aircraft carrying Municipal Affairs Minister T. Babbitt Parlee and two civil defence officials.

The plane disappeared Tuesday night.

Missing with Mr. Parlee, 42, are Howard Smith, 36, deputy co-ordinator of civil defence for the province, and L. C. Russell, 39, a construction company president and civil defence training officer who was piloting the aircraft.

PERHAPS THE HOGS WOULD KNOW

Now the Question Is: When Is an Honest Liar Honest?

MILWAUKEE (AP)—The world champion liar, crowned less than a month ago by the Burlington Liars Club, reacted in championship style today to a base canard aimed at his qualifications as a Canadian liar.

Albert Hopkins of Madison, said the Liars' Club of Weyburn, Sask., in a formal statement, "is an honest liar."

Said Hopkins: "That's a lie."

The controversy started when master liar Fred Parker of Weyburn said that his club voted unanimously to lodge a strong protest with Burlington over Hopkins' qualifications.

The Canadians, Parker said, were willing to concede that champion Hopkins "is a liar, and a big liar at that." But the title-winning lie, Parker alleged, was a twice-told tale about a pig's posterior.

"It is even," said Parker, "word for word of an old phonograph record of the song Cross-Eyed Sue."

"I never heard of the phonograph record before," Hopkins said Wednesday. He added virtuously that the account was recalled from his boyhood.

The lie itself?

Seems there were some hogs who died from lack of sleep after acquiring such an accumulation of North Dakota gumbo clay on their tails that the weight stretched their hide so tight they couldn't close their eyes.

It may be some consolation that's 15 ABOVE—but not much.

Picture or no picture, there's nothin' phoney about hospital overcrowdin'.

It takes a liar t' ketch a liar.

Commonwealth Policy Sparks Lively Clash

(From Times News Services)

Hon. Earl Rowe and Health Minister Martin clashed Wednesday over the government's attitude toward the Commonwealth as the throne speech debate ended with two votes carried by the Liberal majority.

"Never have I been more ashamed of Canada's position within the British Commonwealth than I have been during the last six months," said Mr. Rowe, deputy leader of the Progressive Conservatives and member for Dufferin-Simcoe, Ont.

Speaking immediately after Mr. Rowe, Mr. Martin, acting as external affairs minister in Mr. Pearson's absence at the UN General Assembly, said: "One would have thought that we had long passed the day when it would be possible to seek to divide public opinion in this country on the question of allegiance to the Commonwealth."

Mr. Rowe, in an apparent reference to government criticism of the British-French invasion of Egypt last October, said government leaders in the past have said "there is nothing left of our bond with the motherland except a fine silken thread which you could hardly see trembling across the ocean."

He added: "Even that gossamer tie has been weakened since that time."

Must Not Provoke United States

The government's attitude seemed to be that Canada must not provoke the United States.

"Instead of looking to Washington we should be giving study to our part in the British Commonwealth of nations and how we can unite with Western Europe."

Mr. Martin said surely Mr. Rowe did not seriously believe that any political group in the Commons "does not wholly subscribe to the view that the Commonwealth is an instrument for good in this world and that it must be preserved."

Mr. Rowe said External Affairs Minister Pearson "opposed Britain for going into the Suez and he supports the United States of America when the government of that country asks Congress: now that we have got Britain kicked out, can we go in?"

Mr. Martin said Mr. Rowe "suggested by implication" that not only is the government "seeking to bring about a disunity of the Commonwealth but we were also seeking to add to this disruptive force further and further alliance to the United States."

"The right of each member to determine for itself its attitude towards important international issues is basic to our concept of the Commonwealth," Mr. Martin said.

Non-Confidence Motion Defeated

As the sitting, last of 10 allocated to the Throne Speech debate, neared its end, G. H. Castleden (CCF-Yorkton) introduced a motion of non-confidence in the government criticizing it for not proposing legislation in the Throne Speech to give farmers a parity price system.

The motion was defeated 173 to 31. The Social Credit group supported the CCF Conservatives and three Quebec independents voted with the Liberals against it.

Earlier non-confidence motions by the CCF, Conservatives and Social Credit were defeated.

Social Credit member C. E. Johnston said it would be "despicable" for the government to increase old age pensions and family allowances in an election year when the payments could have been raised one or two years ago.

"Surely there are more honorable ways the government could use to get votes than this underhanded method," the member for Bow River said.

Mr. Johnston said a number of Liberal members have spoken urging higher payments. If the government decided to increase them now, the same action could have been taken long ago. That would mean the government had been holding back aid for needy persons in order to gain an election advantage.

The Opposition continued to press the government for an announcement on when the Canadian Wheat Board will make an interim payment on wheat from the 1955-56 crop year.

But Trade Minister Howe, replying to Opposition Leader Diefenbaker, said he is unable to say. He had brought the matter to the board's attention

Five Quebec Children Die In House Fire

JOLLIETTE, Que. (CP) — Five children were burned to death today when fire, believed to have started from a overheated stove, razed their clapboard cottage home on the outskirts of this town 50 miles north of Montreal.

A sixth child suffered severe burns and the mother of three of the dead children was taken to hospital suffering from severe shock.

Deputy Fire Chief Rivest said he believes the kitchen stove became overheated after the man of the house had left for work about 6:45 a.m.

WORTH $27 MILLION

Canada Offers Naval Vessels To NATO Allies

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada has offered NATO $27,250,000 worth of naval ships, mainly minesweepers, defence officials said Wednesday.

The ships will comprise more than one-quarter of this country's $100,000,000 mutual aid program in the fiscal year beginning April 1, 1957.

Under this program, Canada ships military equipment to its European allies in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. Since formation of the alliance more than six years ago, Canada has given away more than $1,100,000,000 worth of arms under this arrangement.

NATO has not yet indicated how many Canadian warships it wants but on the basis that a minesweeper costs about $4,000,000, some seven ships may be involved in the deal.

Mutual aid works this way:

Canada informs the NATO standing group what it has available for the program. The standing group advises European members of NATO of this and they ask for the equipment they want. The standing group works out the arrangements and then advises Canada what to ship and where.

Canada gave France six minesweepers under the mutual aid program about three years ago. Last year it lent Norway three frigates for an indefinite period. This was a bilateral agreement outside the scope of NATO.

Officials said that the minesweepers being offered to NATO are not navy discards. Military equipment offered to NATO was of the same standard as that issued to Canadian forces.

Ration-Free Gas Supplied for Race

LONDON (AP) — The British government agreed Wednesday to supply 6,000 gallons of ration-free gasoline for the Isle of Man Tourist Trophy motorcycle races next June.

The allowance followed a warning from the Isle of Man that the island's economy would suffer if the races had to be cancelled.

Bribe Offer Claimed At Will Forgery Trial

VANCOUVER (CP) — A former school trustee testified in police court Wednesday that Gilbert Campbell asked him to tell a probate court that he was present when witnesses signed a forged $1,000,000 will.

William Grieve, a member of the Burnaby School Board for 14 years, said Campbell offered to "wipe out" a $5,000 debt of James Thomson, a wealthy hotel owner who died here in 1949.

In return, Grieve said, Campbell asked him to say he saw witnesses sign Thomson's will. Grieve's testimony came during Campbell's preliminary hearing. Campbell, a lieutenant with the Vancouver Fire Department, is charged with fraud and forgery.

The will was declared a forgery in supreme court.

Earlier in the hearing, T. R. Duckworth, a handwriting expert, said forged signatures appearing on the will had been written by Campbell.

Duckworth, a former inspector with the Saskatchewan Provincial Police, said he based his findings on comparisons between the signatures made on the will and entries made by Campbell in a fire department log book.

RAINIER 'BEAT'

Princess, Baby Fine; Monacans Whoop It Up

By PIERRE LEGROS

MONTE CARLO (AP) — Princess Grace's doctors said she could get out of bed for an hour this afternoon, less than 30 hours after the birth of her first child.

The palace physicians announced the Hollywood film star will be allowed up at increasingly frequent intervals after her first time on her feet. The doctors had said earlier the princess would be up and about in two or three days.

Princess Grace and her baby, Princess Caroline, were reported in excellent condition. The 26-year-old mother spent a quiet night. The blue-eyed, dark-haired baby slept in the royal crib at her bedside from midnight until 6 a.m. without waking.

The happy and weary father, Prince Rainier, went to bed early Wednesday night, but the rest of Monaco spent the night celebrating the arrival of the royal baby. The celebration continued today.

The rejoicing residents and visitors in this 367-acre principality on the Riviera gathered in a singing and dancing throng before the palace Wednesday night. They lit a bonfire and shouted "Long live the prince—long live the princess!"

URNS IN EARLY

The people shouted repeatedly for Rainier, but he did not appear on the palace balcony. He had kept a vigil with his mother-in-law, Mrs. John B. Kelly of Philadelphia, outside the palace delivery room from 3 a.m. until the baby arrived at 9:27 a.m. He was in a swirl of royal activity for the rest of the day and decided to turn in early.

CASINO PACKED

After yelling themselves hoarse, the Monacans scattered into cafes and other night spots around the principality. They danced rock 'n' roll, mambo, and almost every other kind of dance. The dawn advanced and so did the celebrating. The swank night club in the famous gambling casino was packed.

All the public knows about Princess Caroline's looks is what the doctors announced. She is a healthy, pink-skinned infant with blue eyes, dark hair, a freckle on her nose. She weighs eight pounds three ounces.

Russian Planes Probing Arctic?

Vapor Trails Sighted Over Canada's North Can't Be Confirmed Until DEW Line Operates

OTTAWA (CP) — Competent authorities here say they believe Russian planes occasionally make reconnaissance flights over northern Canada and Alaska.

They say that as far as they know no Canadian or American plane has ever been able to intercept such a flight. The United States has jet fighters stationed in Alaska but Canada has no interceptors based that far north.

Thus there has not been positive identification of a Soviet plane flying over northern Canada. "As a rule, all that has been seen have been vapor trails of aircraft so high that the planes themselves could not be seen."

These vapor trails have been noticed over the Queen Elizabeth Islands—Canada's northern archipelago—at a time when it was known that no Canadian or American planes were in the area.

Authorities say they believe the only purpose of such reconnaissance flights would apparently be to take high-level photographs of terrain where the DEW (Distant Early Warning) radar line is being built along the 70th parallel. There is an airfield at each major DEW line station.

Positive identification of any Russian flights over the Arctic may be obtained when the DEW line goes into operation. It is scheduled for completion July 1.

No particular alarm is expressed here about the Russian reconnaissance flights, if that is what they are. It is believed that the Russians would gain little or no valuable information from them.

It is also said here that the Soviet flights have been made periodically during the last three years at least.

'Bare Details' Only By These Speakers

VANCOUVER (CP) — Public speakers are notoriously long-winded, but at last, an offer of speakers guaranteed to provide only the bare details.

Nolan Tan Club, a Vancouver nudist club, has offered to supply speakers of both sexes to any group wanting to learn more about the nudist philosophy.

DETROIT (AP) — A bus rider, disgusted with the snail's pace at which his bus had to move on Plymouth Road Wednesday because of storm conditions, left the vehicle and went into a nearby saloon. He had two shots of whisky and a beer. Then he went back and got on the bus, which had moved only 10 feet during his absence.

Nightmare Stuff

LAST night I dreamed I had a semi-transparent baby with a very tiny brain. Goodness knows what the Freudians would make of that. Something horrible, I don't doubt. But I know what I make of it. I put it down to reading the wrong kind of articles, especially one about the famous French biologist, Jean Rostand.

Jean Rostand, says the article, claims that probably before the end of the century childbirth as we know it will be but a memory of a rather savage and unscientific past.

According to his theory, in her third month of pregnancy a mother would enter a clinic for a painless operation that would last for only a few minutes. The operation would remove the embryo, which would be placed in an artificial womb and under scientifically ideal conditions. At the end of six months, the baby—boy or girl as the parents decided—would be delivered from its artificial womb.

Well, I'm too old for this to bother me, but I'd just like to say that I'm glad I produced my babies in a normal way.

I'm glad that I know what it was like to feel the first leap of life, and to know the wonderful things that were happening in my body. It's an experience that I wouldn't have missed for worlds. I wouldn't have missed nursing my babies, either.

Thank Heavens that in those days we still believed in Do-It-Yourself.

The article then goes on to speak of parthenogenesis. (Reproduction without union of sexual elements, in case your dictionary is not handy.)

Ruth

Jean Rostand, whose experiments of parthenogenesis on frogs are known throughout the world, is convinced that it is also possible with human beings.

Artificial parthenogenesis is not yet fool-proof, says the article, and in his experiments with frogs, Rostand still gets a high percentage of unexpected results. He got albino frogs, for instance. Almost white and semi-transparent they were!

I don't like the sound of this at all. Once you start this sort of thing with frogs, the next step is to try it on human beings.

And I can't think that even the mothers of the future will be content if the scientists make a slip somewhere and produce the odd semi-transparent baby. They might accept a pure act of God, but not a slip on the part of scientists. (Think of the lawsuits and the suing for damages!)

Man, says this article, cannot wait for natural evolution to catch up with science, and, already, men are thinking of speeding up evolution.

Some of the experiments on frogs, I understand, have produced frogs with larger brains than frogs ever had before.

Even my limited brain can see the follow-up to this one. Frogs with bigger brains? Okay, let's make frogs with smaller brains. It worked? Goody, now let's have some fun and try the same experiment with humans.

As if there weren't enough subhuman types shambling round already!

No, if this is the shape of things to come, I don't like it. Nightmare stuff it seems to me.

(The article, written in popular style, is in the January 5 issue of Everybody's. A more erudite discussion of the same experiments appears in the introduction to Charles Morgan's "Liberties of the Mind.")

By DR. WALTER C. ALVAREZ

A Bunch of Nerves

Dr. Walter C. Alvarez is Emeritus Consultant in Medicine, Mayo Clinic and Emeritus Professor of Medicine, Mayo Foundation.

A young man writes that he has been utterly miserable, and much worried about his health. He has been going from one clinic to another getting examined from head to foot at great cost to his family, but nothing has ever been found, and he is getting desperate. As he says, he gets a sort of dizziness at times, with a feeling of a lump in his throat that won't go up or down. He has feelings of great air hunger, as if he could not get enough air down deep into his lungs. He runs to a window, hoping that there he will find more air.

His doctors have told him there is not a single sign of heart disease, but he is still worried because his heart sometimes races or skips a beat and then thumps in his neck. When he is frightened, he sometimes belches for half an hour, or he gets diarrhea. Often he gets "butterflies" in his abdomen and a burning over his stomach. If he goes out with his girl, he is likely to become nervous and so nauseated that he cannot eat anything. His bowel may then fill with gas and give him much distress. He may blot like a "poisoned pup."

At times he feels a pressure in his brain and he has pains that move around in his chest. His hands are usually so cold and wet he is ashamed to shake hands with anyone. Sometimes he gets jittery spells when he feels chilly. Sometimes he vomits his breakfast. At times he feels too short of breath to walk fast, and at other times he can play baseball comfortably. He wants to know what is wrong and what he can do to get well. He strongly suspects his bad nerves have come from his mother who for years, was in a state hospital.

Actually, all his symptoms are typical of a person who was born with a poor set of nerves. Not a single symptom suggests disease in his chest or abdomen. I can see no sense in examining this poor fellow any further—that can only waste his money. He will probably always have to put up with some nervousness, and so he might as well start learning to live with his nerves. The big thing is not to get frightened when they start playing tricks with his heart or his stomach or the blood vessels and sweat glands and muscles in his skin.

Hundreds of persons still keep asking me what to do for a functional type of hypoglycemia (low blood sugar) that has not responded to treatment. My answer usually is "Forget it; the diagnosis was probably wrong. Go to a good clinical laboratory and get your blood sugar measured. If it is normal, as it probably will be, quit worrying. You just happened to see a physician whose hobby is low blood sugar."

I am happy to say that the fad of diagnosing this (usually) supposed disease seems to be going the way of all fads. Of late I have not seen so many persons worrying about it; nowhere near so many as I used to see 10 years ago. Actually, in practically every case I have ever seen, a test of the blood sugar—made in a good laboratory—showed that it was normal; and hence the doctor who made the diagnosis must have been misled by some laboratory technician.

I would never think of treating a patient for hypoglycemia unless several laboratories had reported a decidedly low sugar, and unless the patient was having most of his distress in the early morning, when his blood sugar must be at its lowest. Also, I would not diagnose hypoglycemia unless the person could always get quick relief from his symptoms by eating some candy.

SYMPTOMS VANISH

Most of the women I saw with a supposed hypoglycemia could not have had it as the cause of their symptoms because some of their attacks came shortly after luncheon or dinner, when the blood sugar is likely to be high; and in many the symptoms cleared up by themselves, or after the taking of a little black coffee or a tablet of aspirin—neither of which would have influenced a low blood sugar.

Actually, I cannot remember having seen a case of so-called "functional" and not cancerous hypoglycemia in which an able laboratory technician could show that the blood sugar was significantly low, or in which I thought the symptoms were of the sort that could be due to a low blood sugar. In many cases the spells were typically migrainous or nervous in nature. We physicians must keep remembering that no symptoms are produced by a moderate lowering of the blood sugar. Symptoms do not appear until a person's blood sugar has been dropped way down to 50 mgs or less. The normal is somewhere between 80 and 120 mgs.

Damages Total $4,259 Against Young Motorist

General damages of $3,000 plus special damages of $1,259 were awarded Mrs. Theresa M. Hale, 3245 Wicklow, in Supreme Court here by Mr. Justice A. D. Macfarlane, as a result of an accident in November, 1955.

The judgment was against Robert D. Green, 18, 841 Selkirk, a ward of the Children's Aid Society.

The mishap took place while Mrs. Hale was crossing the intersection of Hillside at Wark at 8.15 p.m. Nov. 19, 1955.

In rendering his decision, Mr. Justice Macfarlane said Green had the opportunity of swerving his car, but failed to do so.

Mrs. Hale was in hospital more than four months, suffering multiple fractures to the pelvis, and a broken nose.

E. S. Davidson appeared on behalf of Green and P. J. Sinclair for Mrs. Hale.

Ottawa Votes Money For Telescope

It is likely a portion of the $150,000 granted the Dominion Astrophysical Observatory under federal public works estimates will be used for start on a new telescope on Little Saanich Mountain, observatory officials said today.

The new telescope, which would take about three years to build, would cost an eventual $250,000. It would be used for study of star spectra, brightness and color, by use of photo-electric cells.

Head of the project and observatory, Dr. R. M. Petrie, leaves next week for the annual meeting of the Royal Astronomical Society of Canada, of which he is president.

He addresses the society in Toronto Feb. 8, and will go from there to Ottawa to determine exactly where the public works department grant should be allocated.

Boat Harbor At Courtenay 'Health Menace'

COURTENAY—Upper Island Health Unit has complained to Courtenay city council of conditions in Courtenay slough, a backwater of Courtenay River where several boats are moored.

Dr. L. S. Anderson, director of the unit, said a number of people live on the boats, and that the existing state of the boat harbor is a health hazard.

Anglicans Seek New Church at Parksville

PARKSVILLE—Anglicans here have named a committee to investigate ways and means of building a $35,000 church for the district.

Rev. John Stainer, rector of St. Anne's at French Creek, says a new church would not mean closing St. Anne's, a log church that dates back to the early days of the district.

STUDY IN GERMANY
Some 7,000 foreign students were enrolled in West German universities for the term ending in 1957.

In the group were nine families, including nine children from 13 months to high school age, four single men, and three single women.

Children already have started school, and English classes for adults will begin shortly.

The refugees arrived by bus at the community hall, where they were served tea, then registered and taken to accommodation that had been arranged in advance.

Bedding and clothing were distributed from a supply depot that had been established in a vacant store building. Residents have been generous with offers of supplies and homes, the organization reported.

Minister to Hear Arguments Supporting Sooke School Vote

SOOKE—Arguments in favor of supporting the school building referendum prepared by Sooke School Board will be presented by trustees Tuesday at 9 a.m. at a meeting with Education Minister Leslie Peterson.

The education department has approved the referendum with the exception of the board's plans for Belmont and Milnes Landing High Schools, where the board wants to build bigger additions than the department feels are warranted.

Trustees will suggest financing proposed construction out of current revenue. According to Mrs. Isabelle Reader, finance committee chairman, raising the mill rate to the level prior to a reduction last year would provide enough revenue to carry out a five-year building program without borrowing money.

Ladysmith Change Awaits Legislature

LADYSMITH (CP) — Acting on the advice of Deputy Municipal Affairs Minister J. E. Brown, the Chamber of Commerce voted Wednesday to hold in abeyance any further action regarding extension of city boundaries until after the legislative session opens.

In reply to a letter of enquiry from committee chairman E. F. N. Robinson, Mr. Brown said it is proposed at the forthcoming session to introduce a new Municipal Act. He suggested that since the act will have a bearing on extension of boundaries, the request be deferred.

Inquest into the man's death was held Wednesday, and funeral services were held today in Chemainus.

The jury's verdict was accidental death.

Frank Van Horne, a witness, said at the inquest that he saw Mr. Gunderson's car at 2:40 a.m., standing on Bayview Road with lights on and engine running. Mr. Gunderson was lying across the front seat asleep, and his window was fully open.

"I could hear him breathing quite distinctly," he said.

Mr. Van Horne said he turned the headlights and motor off, left the parking lights on, and reported the incident to the RCMP here.

Const. J. Douglas, who took the report, said he had decided no action was needed since the car had been left with the motor off and the window open. At 10 a.m. Sunday, Const. Douglas said, he was told a man had been found dead in his car on Bayview Road.

On investigation he found Mr. Gunderson dead, but sitting upright in the driver's seat. Windows were tightly closed, the ignition was turned on, and the gas tank was empty, he said.

Dr. H. Cantor testified that death had been caused by carbon monoxide poisoning.

Commonwealth Policy Sparks Lively Clash

(From Times News Service)

Hon. Earl Rowe and Health Minister Martin clashed Wednesday over the government's attitude toward the Commonwealth as the throne speech debate ended with two votes carried by the Liberal majority.

"Never have I been more ashamed of Canada's position within the British Commonwealth than I have been during the last six months," said Mr. Rowe, deputy leader of the Progressive Conservatives and member for "Dufferin-Simcoe, Ont."

Speaking immediately after Mr. Rowe, Mr. Martin, acting as external affairs minister in Mr. Pearson's absence at the UN General Assembly, said: "One would have thought that we had long passed the day when it would be possible to seek to divide public opinion in this country on the question of allegiance to the Commonwealth."

Mr. Rowe, in an apparent reference to government criticism of the British-French invasion of Egypt last October, said government leaders in the past have said "there is nothing left of our bond with the motherland except a fine silken thread which you could hardly see trembling across the ocean."

He added: "Even that gossamer thread has been weakened since that time."

Must Not Provoke United States

The government's attitude seemed to be that Canada must not provoke the United States.

"Instead of looking to Washington we should be giving study to our part in the British Commonwealth of nations and how we can unite with Western Europe."

Mr. Martin said surely Mr. Rowe did not seriously believe that any political group in the Commons "does not wholly subscribe to the view that the Commonwealth is an instrument for good in this world and that it must be preserved."

Mr. Rowe said External Affairs Minister Pearson "opposed Britain for going into the Suez and he supports the United States of America when the government of that country asks Congress: now that we have got Britain kicked out, can we go in?"

Mr. Martin said Mr. Rowe "suggested by implication" that not only is the government "seeking to bring about a disunity of the Commonwealth but we were also seeking to add to this disruptive force further and further alliance to the United States."

"The right of each member to determine for itself its attitude towards international issue is basic to our concept of the Commonwealth," Mr. Martin said.

Non-Confidence Motion Defeated

As the sitting, last of 10 allocated to the Throne Speech debate, neared its end, G. H. Castleden (CCF-Yorkton) introduced a motion of non-confidence in the government criticizing it for not proposing legislation in the Throne Speech to give farmers a parity price system.

The motion was defeated 173 to 31. The Social Credit group supported the CCF Conservatives and three Quebec Independents voted with the Liberals against it.

Earlier non-confidence motions by the CCF, Conservatives and Social Credit were defeated.

Social Credit member C. E. Johnston said it would be "despicable" for the government to increase old age pensions and family allowances in an election year when the payments could have been raised one or two years ago.

"Surely there are more honorable ways the government could use to get votes than this underhanded method," the member for Bow River said.

Mr. Johnston said a number of Liberal members have spoken urging higher payments. If the government decided to increase them now, the same action could have been taken long ago. That would mean the government had been holding back aid for needy persons in order to gain an election advantage.

The Opposition continued to press the government for an announcement on when the Canadian Wheat Board will make an interim payment on wheat from the 1955-56 crop year.

But Trade Minister Howe, replying to Opposition Leader Diefenbaker, said he is unable to say. He had brought the matter to the board's attention

Five Quebec Children Die In House Fire

JOLLIETTE, Que. (CP) — Five children were burned to death today when fire, believed to have started from an overheated stove, razed their clapboard cottage home on the outskirts of this town 50 miles north of Montreal.

A sixth child suffered severe burns and the mother of three of the dead children was taken to hospital suffering from severe shock.

Deputy Fire Chief Rivest said he believes the kitchen stove became overheated after the man of the house had left for work about 6.45 a.m.

WORTH $27 MILLION

Canada Offers Naval Vessels To NATO Allies

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada has offered NATO $27,250,000 worth of naval ships, mainly minesweepers, defence officials said Wednesday.

The ships will comprise more than one-quarter of this country's $100,000,000 mutual aid program in the fiscal year beginning April 1, 1957.

Under this program, Canada ships military equipment to its European allies in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. Since formation of the alliance more than six years ago, Canada has given away more than $1,100,000,000 worth of arms under this arrangement. NATO has not yet indicated how many Canadian warships it wants but on the basis that a minesweeper costs about $4,000,000, some seven ships may be involved in the deal.

Mutual aid works this way: Canada informs the NATO standing group what it has available for the program. The standing group advises European members of NATO of this and they ask for the equipment they want. The standing group works out the arrangements and then advises Canada what to ship and where.

Canada gave France six minesweepers under the mutual aid program about three years ago. Last year it lent Norway three frigates for an indefinite period. This was a bilateral agreement outside the scope of NATO.

Officials said that the minesweepers being offered to NATO are not navy discards. Military equipment offered to NATO was of the same standard as that issued to Canadian forces.

Ration-Free Gas Supplied for Race

LONDON (AP) — The British government agreed Wednesday to supply 6,000 gallons of ration-free gasoline for the Isle of Man Tourist Trophy motorcycle races next June.

The allowance followed a warning from the Isle of Man that the island's economy would suffer if the races had to be cancelled.

Bribe Offer Claimed At Will Forgery Trial

VANCOUVER (CP) — A former school trustee testified in police court Wednesday that Gilbert Campbell asked him to tell a probate court that he was present when witnesses signed a forged $1,000,000 will.

William Grieve, a member of the Burnaby School Board for 14 years, said Campbell offered to "wipe out" a $5,000 debt which Grieve owed to the estate of James Thomson, a wealthy hotel owner who died here in 1949.

In return, Grieve said, Campbell asked him to say he saw witnesses sign Thomson's will. Grieve's testimony came during Campbell's preliminary hearing. Campbell, a lieutenant with the Vancouver Fire Department, is charged with fraud and forgery.

The will was declared a forgery in supreme court. Earlier in the hearing, T. R. Duckworth, a handwriting expert, said forged signatures appeared on the will had been written by Campbell.

Duckworth, a former inspector with the Saskatchewan Provincial Police, said he based his findings on comparisons between the signatures made on the will and entries made on the will and entries made on the will and entries made on the will.

RAINIER 'BEAT'

Princess, Baby Fine; Monacans Whoop It Up

By PIERRE LEGROS

MONTE CARLO (AP) — Princess Grace's doctors said she could get out of bed for an hour this afternoon, less than 30 hours after the birth of her first child.

The palace physicians announced the Hollywood film star will be allowed up at increasingly frequent intervals after her first time on her feet. The doctors had said earlier the princess would be up and about in two or three days.

Princess Grace and her baby, Princess Caroline, were reported in excellent condition. The 26-year-old mother spent a quiet night. The blue-eyed, dark-haired baby slept in the royal crib at her bedside from midnight until 6 a.m. without waking.

The happy and weary father, Prince Rainier, went to bed early Wednesday night, but the rest of Monaco spent the night celebrating the arrival of the royal baby. The celebration continued today.

The rejoicing residents and visitors in this 367-acre principality on the Riviera gathered in a singing and dancing throng before the palace Wednesday night. They lit a bonfire and shouted "Long live the prince—long live the princess!"

TURNS IN EARLY

The people shouted repeatedly for Rainier, but he did not appear on the palace balcony. He had kept a vigil with his mother-in-law, Mrs. John B. Kelly of Philadelphia, outside the palace delivery room from 3 a.m. until the baby arrived at 9.27 a.m. He was in a swirl of the day and decided to turn in early.

CASINO PACKED

After yelling themselves hoarse, the Monacans scattered into cafes and other night spots around the principality. They danced rock 'n' roll, mambo, and almost every other kind of dance. The dawn advanced and so did the celebrating. The swank night club in the famous gambling casino was packed.

All the public knows about Princess Caroline's looks is what the doctors announced. She is a healthy, pink-skinned infant with blue eyes, dark hair, a freckle on her nose. She weighs eight pounds three ounces.

Russian Planes Probing Arctic?

Vapor Trails Sighted Over Canada's North Can't Be Confirmed Until DEW Line Operates

OTTAWA (CP) — Competent authorities here say they believe Russian planes occasionally make reconnaissance flights over northern Canada and Alaska.

They say that as far as they know no Canadian or American plane has ever been able to intercept such a flight. The United States has jet fighters stationed in Alaska but Canada has no interceptors based that far north.

Thus there has not been positive identification of a Soviet plane flying over northern Canada. As a rule, all that has been seen have been vapor trails of aircraft so high that the planes themselves could not be seen.

These vapor trails have been noticed over the Queen Elizabeth Islands—Canada's northern archipelago—at a time when it was known that no Canadian or American planes were in the area.

Authorities say they believe the only purpose of such reconnaissance flights would apparently be to take high-level photographs of terrain where the DEW (Distant Early Warning) radar line is being built along the 70th parallel. There is an airfield at each major DEW line station.

Positive identification of any Russian flights over the Arctic may be obtained when the DEW line goes into operation. It is scheduled for completion July 1.

No particular alarm is expressed here about the Russian reconnaissance flights, if that is what they are. It is believed that the Russians would gain little or no valuable information from them.

It is also said here that the Soviet flights have been made periodically during the last three years at least.

'Bare Details' Only By These Speakers

VANCOUVER (CP) — Public speakers are notoriously longwinded, but at last, an offer of speakers guaranteed to provide only the bare details.

Nolan Tan Club, a Vancouver nudist club, has offered to supply speakers of both sexes to any group wanting to learn more about the nudist philosophy.

DETROIT (AP) — A bus rider, disgusted with the snail's pace at which his bus had to move on Plymouth Road Wednesday because of storm conditions, left the vehicle and went into a nearby saloon. He had two shots of whisky and a beer. Then he went back and got on the bus, which had moved only 10 feet during his absence.

DERBY, Eng. (AP) — William M. Muir, 42, shook hands with the coroner who recorded his death under the wheels of a train 23 months ago.

Producing a copy of his own death certificate, Muir said, "I've come to see about having this altered."

since then, I am sure this is a case of mistaken identity."

The name of the train victim mistaken for Muir is still unknown.

BERLIN (Reuters) — An East Berlin farmer has sued the West Berlin city government for damage done to his fields by an alleged American "spy tunnel."

The farmer claims $300 marks (about $1,550) compensation. He said the tunnel robbed him of 1,500 cubic yards of "first-class arable land."

The tunnel entering East Berlin from the adjacent American sector was discovered last April. Soviet authorities claimed it had been used by the Americans for tapping Soviet and East German telephone lines.
